Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Perturbed citizen has his feathers ruffled because his garbage can hits the curb too sudden, and gets a dislocated rim. The circle "ain't what it used to be," so he has a peeve against the boys who collect the garbage. My experience with the collection department has been satisfactory. Of course after I keep the can long after it should have been sent to the trash pile I should and do expect it to become somewhat feeble. Garbage cans won't last forever, no matter how gently they are cuddled.

The colloquialism between a local attorney and a member of the board of quintuplets as to egress from certain Katella ranches, finally boiled itself down to a personal estimation, probably irrelevant to the issue, but pertinent as to an exchange of individual ideas. Sorry I missed the repartee, as I am unable to make the paragraph clearer, but I understand the Blackstonian answers sparked in their diction and vitriolic heat.

If you believe in reciprocal courtesy make it snappy when you cross an intersection if the automobile driver stops for you.

The approach of Lincoln's birthday anniversary, Feb. 12, will be emphasized in illustrative chronological sequence through a display in the Montgomery-Ward windows. The great emancipator, whose life was an inspiration to generations, past, present, and those to come, is still a persuasive influence for individual and governmental action. Parental guidance made him great. Of his mother he said: "All that I am, or hope to be, I owe to my sainted mother." These words are well worth serious meditation on the part of the youth of today.

Frank Purinton, who used to be "our cowboy mayor," can't qualify any more. Some one stole his hat. He brought this information in last Saturday, on a visit to friends. Frank is located at Tipton, Calif. In the cattle business. Plenty of feed, and generally satisfactory. Frank was mayor of this aggressive city when there was something doing. Building, improving, and making the city a better place at the peak. It was a busy administration, and well administered.

Occasionally see Lewis Fenno Moulton in from the great Moulton ranch, which he inherited in 1896, a tract of 19,500 acres, to which he later added 2500 more Lewis made the trip to California in 1874, via the Isthmus of Panama. At one time he was in partnership with C. E. French. He so systematically organized that grew into the proportions which the extensive acreage would indicate.

I've had a number of invitations to attend the Santa Anita races, and one of these days I'm going to accept, provided I do not have to bet on the horse my host picks out. I want to remain free, independent and solvent.

There is a legal term, status quo. I've been convinced there is an equivalent in civic affairs. For almost 40 years a lot at the corner of Third and Broadway has remained undisturbed. Recently some transfers in ownership resulted in a clean-up of portions of the property, and the workmen discovered under a board a newspaper dated 1901. So for 37 years, apropos to grandfather's clock, it laid under the board. And we have one of the most progressive cities in the Southland. This incident would hardly be appropriate for a chamber of commerce folder.

Rancher tells me he has an invitation to attend an annual dinner for which there was or will be deducted from his fruit enough to pay for his part of it. That's like getting an invitation to attend a party, and bring your own lunch.

Police Scandal Cop Located

MAN SOUGHT IN BOMBING SHOWS UP

Denies Knowledge Of Raymond Case

Roy J. Allen, Los Angeles police detective who was sought here last week for questioning in connection with the Harry Raymond bombing affair, returned to Los Angeles today with a denial that he had taken any part in the incident.

Authorities had questioned Mrs. Allen, who is a teacher in the Santa Ana schools, in an attempt to locate the missing detective.

He said today he had spent the five days since the bombing in a cabin in Big Bear Valley, San Bernardino county, and was unaware that he was wanted for questioning until he saw his picture in a newspaper.

Chief of Police James E. Davis in Los Angeles announced today he was confident that no one on the Los Angeles police force had anything to do with the bombing of Raymond.

Earl Kynette, police intelligence officer, and D. M. Draper, his aide, are scheduled to appear in court today for hearing on a writ of habeas corpus. They have been charged with tapping wires leading into Raymond's home.

Allen signified he was prepared to answer any questions.

"I don't know anything about any wire tapping or about the bombing," he said.

"I admit I was in the bungalow (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

PANAY COST TO BE HIGH

WASHINGTON, (AP)—State department officials said today the outcome of working on the Panay would be a factor in determining the size of the bill to be presented to Japan.

Compilation of the total indemnity which Japan has indicated willingness to pay, will await definite reports of those wounded in the Dec. 12 air bomb attack, it was said.

Though officials declined estimates, precedents would indicate a bill approaching $1,000,000.

The Yangtze river patrol boat was carried on the navy's books at approximately $500,000. Three less costly Standard Oil tankers were sunk or beached at the same time.

The United States has collected in the past numerous indemnities of $100,000 each for the loss of lives of American citizens. Four men died in the Panay bombing.

Other items to be included would be compensation for injuries and loss of personal effects.

The indemnity bill will represent actual and not punitive damages.

MAN HELD ON CHECK CHARGE

Aaron M. Ozmun, 39, prospective purchaser of a Santa Ana coffee shop two months ago, today faced forgery charges following his arrest by Anaheim police Saturday.

Ozmun, who also used the name Jack Osborne, was arrested on a Santa Ana warrant charging he passed a forged check on George Avas.

The arrest, police learned yesterday, followed a trip by Ozmun and a Santa Ana companion through the Holtville region where he asserted was negotiating a mining deal with the other Santa Ana, and during which time he asserted passed nearly $175 in checks personally endorsed by the companion, a responsible businessman here.

Ozmun was negotiating with the proprietor of a downtown coffee shop last November, when he took over management of the cafe temporarily and asserted ran up several hundred dollars' worth of bills before telling the proprietor he had decided not to buy the establishment.

Dixie In Person

Lovely Dixie Dunbar joined the Orange county fight on infantile paralysis today, with the announcement she would be on hand Thursday night as featured entertainer when the county dances in Valencia ballroom. Proceeds from the dance go to the infantile paralysis foundation. Miss Dunbar, well known as a star in many movie successes, will sing and dance, accompanied by Lee Mann's orchestra and Lew Pollock, songwriter.

PRINTING BIDS VARY 200 PCT.

Purchasing Agent Cites Differences

Variations of more than 200 per cent in bids for identical printing jobs were revealed today as Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon's new policy of competitive bidding on county printing saw 19 bidders competing for six jobs.

Formerly the county work was handed out to a weekly newspaper association and a printer's organization, which set a "standard" price on each job.

Fenelon stopped that policy Jan. 1 and said he believed taxpayers would be saved several thousands of dollars a year if competitive bids were required.

"Each of these bidders," he said, "is given rigid specifications which he must meet. If the work is not up to a strict standard, the job will not be accepted."

Indications of large savings in the printing work, which costs many thousands of dollars a year for the many forms and papers which the county government requires, were found in the range of bids opened today on the six jobs.

One job—5000 cards for stolen car reports—saw printers bidding from $6.95 to $21.50. Twenty thousand laboratory report forms showed a range of $9.95 to $27.50. Constables' inventory forms from $6.20 to $18.95. 2000 requisitions for inspection $6.25 to $19.25, and 500 correction slips $1.75 to $4.50.

LEGION FOUNDER DIES

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Dr. Arthur D. Houghton, 66, one of the 11 founders of the American Legion, died late yesterday of a heart attack.

His body was found in a sedan parked in a garage on the Long Island estate, which she had leased. Miss Pinchot was seated in the rear seat of the car, and wore an expensive evening gown beneath her rich fur wrap.

Dr. Ellmore said a garden hose had been attached to the exhaust pipe and led into the car through a window. He also said all of the other windows were closed, and the one through which the hose came was sealed with a robe.

Inspector Harold R. King of the Nassau county police issued the following statement from the estate:

"The body of Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, aged 32, married and the mother of two children, William, 9, and James, 6, was found in a seat of a Buick sedan in a garage at her home on Valestone lane, Old Brookville, L. I., about 7:15 a. m., there Jan. 19 to Mrs. Cipriana Bangary, 22, wife of a fisherman.

The mother died shortly after birth of the fourth child. Physicians said the babies were normal and thriving except the fourth, which was born weak. The first child was born at 12:30 p. m. and the last at 4:20 p. m., the dispatches said.

Miss Pinchot was only 17 when she starred in "The Miracle," and was 32 at her death. Five feet nine and willowy, she

Fasting Dean Nearing Death

NOE RUSHED TO HOSPITAL BY FRIENDS

3-Month Abstinence Brings Collapse

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Israel Harding Noe's fight to win immortality by fasting was changed to a fight to save his life today, with physicians resorting to forced feeding to restore strength to his wasted body.

The doctors said they considered his condition "grave" but not hopeless after 22 days of absolute abstinence from food, and that three months might be required to restore him physically.

The 47-year-old ousted dean of St. Mary's Episcopal cathedral was rushed to the hospital last night after he had fallen into what physicians described as a "deep sleep."

Sweetened liquids were forced into his dehydrated body and intravenous feeding was to be started soon as his condition permitted. Meanwhile, he was kept in seclusion under sedatives.

FORCED FEEDING
Hall Buchanan, attorney and a member of the cathedral chapter, visited the former dean last night and said he talked "intelligently" but expressed opposition to the forced feeding that ended the long fast by which he sought to prove immortality was possible on earth.

The trip to the hospital ended a "scientific" day for the dean. Sunday morning he slipped quietly into the cathedral where, from an inconspicuous third row pew, he heard another man, the Rev. Royden Keith Yerkes of the University down in a pasture south of the barns, and investigated. How the seal got that far inland without assistance is a mystery.

The dairymen were uncertain just how to deal with Mr. Flipper, and telephoned Game Warden Fred Rogers.

Somehow they managed to get the seal over to the highway and there the warden started shooting (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Mother Dies as Quadruplets Born

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—Dispatches from Cebu today said quadruplets were born in the general clinic there Jan. 19 to Mrs. Cipriana Bangary, 22, wife of a fisherman.

The mother died shortly after birth of the fourth child. Physicians said the babies were normal and thriving except the fourth, which was born weak. The first child was born at 12:30 p. m. and the last at 4:20 p. m., the dispatches said.

was one of the tallest actresses on Broadway.

Last March she remarked in an interview that one of her chief difficulties had been "finding men tall enough to play opposite me."

She always recalled her first great success—as the nun in "The Miracle"—as something that "just passed over my head."

"I was so young," she said once, "that I actually didn't know, until much later, that we sold out the house for months."

A few years ago, Miss Pinchot went to Hollywood under contract to one of the major studios, but returned to New York after six months there. The contract was not renewed.

She rebelled frequently at being classed as a "society girl," despite the prominence of her family, and said last winter that she had worn evening dresses but twice during the season.

Her last role was in the Biblical extravaganza, "The Eternal Road." During the 1932 presidential campaign, as the niece of the then nominally Republican governor of Pennsylvania, she conducted a Democratic forum at national party headquarters.

HOSPITAL FIRE INVESTIGATED BY JURYMEN

Burning of Baby May Spur Lawsuit

Hospital committeemen of the Orange county grand jury—finished with routine checkups several weeks ago—peered deeper, and more suspiciously, into the county hospital setup today, following an inquest verdict Friday which blamed "improper equipment" for a hospital fire that "contributed" to the death of a Buena Park baby.

Names of the hospital committeemen were not revealed, but it was understood they would make a preliminary report on the situation when the jury reconvenes Wednesday that may result in a thorough investigation of the hospital by the jury as a whole.

The new investigation followed testimony at an inquest into the death of Ramon Armley, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Armley, in which Dr. Harry E. Zaiser, hospital superintendent, said safer equipment than that used in an inhalation treatment in the hospital is on the market, but that he had never asked the board of supervisors for it.

Two grand jurors—Mrs. Maite C. Osborne, Fullerton, and Mrs. C. A. Neighbors, Anaheim—were present at the inquest.

Possible civil action against the county was still pending today as Attorneys Lew Blodgett and Thomas Kuchel, representing the baby's parents, reiterated their intentions to "follow the matter up."

WRIGHT CASE CONTINUES

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The state continued today its version of how Evelyn Wright, 29, and John Kimmel, 32, died in a burst of gunfire directed at them by Mrs. Wright's husband, Paul A. Wright.

Wright, former airport manager, is on trial charged with murdering the couple.

Ready to be called by the prosecution were Glendale police officers, ambulance drivers and hospital workers.

The police officers will finish their story of how they arrived at the Wright home in Glendale early the morning of last Nov. 9 at Wright's frantic call, how they found Mrs. Wright and Kimmel dying in the living room.

Wright has declared he found his wife and "best friend" embracing on a piano bench, and shot them down in a frenzy of jealous wrath. He has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the murder charges.

Board Prohibits Short Selling

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The securities commission adopted rules today designed to prohibit short selling in a declining securities market.

Effective Feb. 8, the new rules will prohibit the short selling of any stock except at a price at least 3/4 of a point above the price of the last sale.

New Chief

Ralph Frankis, circulation manager for The Journal for the first 18 months of the paper's existence, today took over the big job of Director of Circulation for the John P. Scripps Newspapers.

His headquarters will be at The Journal, where he also will manage the local paper's circulation department, replacing E. H. Long, who has resigned.

For the past 17 months Frankis has been an executive in the circulation division of the Oakland Tribune.

GIRL IN TRAP DOOR FALL SUES

Trapdoors are fine things for spiders and for haunted castles—but they don't belong in a service station.

So claims 15-year-old Vivian Forster of Fullerton, suddenly catapulted into a service station cellar last Oct. 31, according to a complaint on file in superior court today.

Miss Forster, suing through her father, George H. Forster, asks $15,500 from owners of the station for a broken nose and other injuries. Defendants, owners of a service station at 515 North Spadra street, Fullerton, include Shipkey and Pearson, Inc., the Rio Grande Oil corporation and the Richfield Oil corporation.

Bulgaria Cabinet Heads Resign

SOFIA, Bulgaria. (AP)—War Minister Gen. Christo Loukoff and Interior Minister Ivan Krasnovsky resigned today. Political circles believed King Boris III had asked them to step out because they were too active in campaigns for the March general elections.

Newspapermen Changing, Too

By BRADEN FINCH
Just back from the California Publishers association convention at Riverside, where I noted that newspapermen are changing with the times.

No longer are publishers the old-fashioned "personal journalists," concerned mainly with idealism.

Instead, they have become streamlined along with their newspapers, and their new code includes realism. Shrewd business men, they concentrate not only on building up their own businesses, but on developing the commercial structure of their entire community. And who can say that this change is not for the best in our complex dynamic modern civilization?

FOUL PLAY FEARED IN BODY CASE

Inquest to Be Held Over Beach Corpse

Investigation of a police suspicion that Raymond C. Hammond, 40, Westminster, may have met with foul play today delayed certification of the Standard Oil company employee's death as a suicide. Hammond's body positively identified after a 30-hour struggle, hampered by rough seas and high tides, ended with its recovery from the rocks of a jetty in the Santa Ana river mouth shortly before 6 p. m. Saturday.

The body apparently had been pinned under the rocks for several days before it was discovered Friday afternoon, and it was more than a day later before harbor patrolmen, life guards and Deputy Coroner Bert Casteix succeeded in moving the big boulders from the drowned man's body.

ANONYMOUS CALL
Casteix and Coroner Earl Abbey today resumed investigation of the drowning when Huntington Beach police indicated the oil worker may not be a suicide victim as officials believed. He had been reported despondent lately, and was last seen by Huntington Beach police Jan. 11 as he was walking out on Huntington Beach pier. His car and personal articles were found near the pier.

Hammond's body was completely nude when recovered, officers reported, and disappearance of his clothes added an element of mystery to the case.

CASTEIX INJURED
Sudden loosening of the man's body just after dark Saturday resulted in injury to Casteix, it was learned today. The deputy coroner was trying to hold the body in place, and when it came free, he lost his balance and plunged eight feet onto some sharp rocks, sustaining cuts and bruises on his face.

Aiding in recovering the body were Frank Crocker, Laguna Beach police, and Bud Higgins, Huntington Beach lifeguard head and Assistant Chief Jan Brisco and John Lugo of the Newport department. Several Standard Oil employees also aided, using cable furnished by the oil company.

The body was taken to Dixon mortuary in Huntington Beach, where funeral arrangements are being made. An inquest will be conducted some time tomorrow, Abbey said, following today's investigation.

Damage Slight in Hawaii Quake

HONOLULU, (AP)—Hawaiian residents today repaired minor damage resulting from a Saturday night earthquake while scientists kept a close watch for possible eruptions of numerous active volcanoes on Hawaii, southernmost island of the mid-Pacific group.

Possibility that Mauna Loa, one of the three great volcanoes on that island, might have originated the tremor, was expressed by Commander J. H. Peters, of the coast geodetic survey. He expected scientific reports today from Hawaii.

Monoxide Gas Kills Actress Rosamond Pinchot

Her body was found in a sedan parked in a garage on the Long Island estate, which she had leased. Miss Pinchot was seated in the rear seat of the car, and wore an expensive evening gown beneath her rich fur wrap.

LEADER BARKLEY GIVES ANTI-LYNCH BILL RIGHT-OF-WAY IN SENATE

FILIBUSTER BATTLE IN 3RD WEEK

Long Session May Bring End to Fight

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley sidetracked the conference report on the administration housing bill in the senate today to give the anti-lynch bill debate right of way. New controversies however faced the senators.

Anxious to dispose of the lynch measure which has tied up the senate for almost three weeks, Barkley said he would not call up the privileged housing bill report, but would hold the senate to debate on the anti-lynching bill throughout the session today and tonight.

The senate was called into session an hour earlier than usual, with prospects for a continuous 11 hour session.

LONG SPEECH As deliberation began Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.) helped out the filibuster with a long prepared speech on TVA, answering a speech last week by Senator Bridges (R., N. H.) on the same subject.

Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) waited for McKellar to finish, so as to resume his talk against the anti-lynching bill.

Time out was taken to permit John Milton to receive the oath as New Jersey's junior senator. He was sworn in despite a protest against his seating by labor's non-partisan league. While Milton signed the register, Vice President Garner announced the protests from the non-partisan league and others, and referred them to the election committee.

CANT LIQUIDATE Across the capital, Clinton Davidson, representing New York investment advisers, told the house ways and means committee want to liquidate, but can not afford to under present tax laws.

White House officials announced President Roosevelt's message on the upbuilding of the navy would be delayed until the end of the week. It had been expected today.

Republicans and some Democrats were expected to fight approval of a compromise bill to aid more construction unless the senate reinstated an amendment by Senator Lodge (R., Mass.) to require payment of prevailing wages on government insured building projects.

HANGING FIRE The housing legislation has been hanging over since the special session last fall. The senate approves it, the bill will go to the White House as the first administration proposal to be enacted this year.

A conference committee of senators and representatives struck out Lodge's amendment, and the house approved the compromise bill omitting it.

Senator Wagner (D., N. Y.) author of both the housing and the anti-lynching bills, was expected to make the decision as to whether the housing bill would be considered at once, temporarily displacing the anti-lynching bill.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES (Continued from Page 1) he didn't know what Wrycende Maegden means, and neither do I.

Don't give up. We get another rain Jan. 27, if the weather man doesn't send it some other place.

Those lads who so skillfully manipulate a Yoo-yoo, sort of unintentionally impart the gallanerie which has passed under the dam since you and I were younger, Jimmy. Just another case of reaching the age limit.

A bronze directory table of tenants in the Otis building has been prefixed to the entrance, which is a much better way of catching the eye than having a directory board in the lobby. It is spontaneously noticeable, and admittedly attractive. Time marches on.

I am in favor of the flag waving, but when it gives me the dam west it gives me the jitters. I'm afraid of those desert winds. They give me a headache, physically and financially.

Little by little we are gaining on last season's rainfall. Showers are not heavy, but if they keep up in frequency there is some encouragement that a satisfactory comparison can be made with the generous total of last season. The ground has absorbed practically all of what has arrived, with the exception of what the pavement carries off, and there hasn't been any conservation as yet to prevent it.

Sewing Project To Continue

Two hundred Orange county women working on WPA sewing project in seven communities were assured today their employment would be continued as word reached here from Los Angeles this morning the federal government has reconsidered its decision to end the activity.

Hereafter the federal government will pay only five dollars per man month in materials instead of $12.30 previously allowed, the Los Angeles dispatch stated.

Seal Causes Excitement

Dreams of a monster, fresh from the deep, were soon shattered in Philadelphia after this "critter" was identified as a full-grown harbor seal. There was plenty of excitement for Eugene Dobos and John Molnar, 13, when they pulled him from the Delaware river. John is from Florence, N. J.

of the South. Seawane, assail religious "vagaries" from the pulpit he occupied for more than 17 years.

Bishop James M. Maxon assailed these same "vagaries" Thursday when he removed Noe as dean of the cathedral in a proclamation urging him to abandon his fast and return to his "normal self."

FUNCTIONS CEASE Even that blow was no more crushing than the one that followed when the cathedral chapter voted approval of the bishop's action making him a priest without a parish, but allowing him six months salary and permission to occupy the deanery for that period.

Without food or water since Jan. 2, his organic functioning yesterday had already partly ceased. His heart showed signs of weakening. Wednesday night he told his wife, Mrs. Ellen Camblos Noe, with whom he was reconciled two weeks before Christmas, when she returned to the deanery with their two children, Margaret, 13, and Eugene, 11, that he was unable to shave himself.

LIVES ON NUTS

The Rev. Mr. Noe said he lived entirely on raw cashew nuts and oranges in 1936 and on oranges alone in 1937. Since Jan. 2, he maintained, he lived entirely on spiritual strength "transmitted from the Father's life" and the communion wafer and wine three times weekly. He used ice cubes to combat dehydration. Physicians said he apparently absorbed water this way.

His plan to prove earthly immortality had its inception 10 years ago. He put it into effect when he began practicing abstinence from the complete marital relationship. This led in 1932 to an unsuccessful divorce suit instituted by Mrs. Noe.

"The first thing I want to clear up is that I had absolutely nothing to do with the slugging and supposed robbing of George Sakalis last Wednesday.

"On that day I was at home and in bed, and can prove it." Sakalis, neighbor of Raymond, reported to authorities he was beaten by two men who warned him against talking in the Raymond case. District Attorney Buron Fitts said Allen would be confronted today by Sakalis.

Captain Kynette asserted he had definite information that the Raymond bombing was plotted by "a mob of ex-convicts whose enmity he had acquired."

Clifford E. Clinton, leader of a citizens' vice investigating committee and friend of Raymond, planned to confer today with a committee of seven clergymen, headed by Dr. Roy L. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

It was announced a permanent organization would be formed "to work forward in the cause of civic decency."

Japanese officials in Shanghai placed a prohibition order on removal of goods from Hongkong and Yangtzeop areas of the International Settlement which have been occupied by Japanese since hostilities started.

A number of "abuses," including transfer of ownership from Chinese to foreigners, prompted the order, the Japanese said.

Japanese occupation and establishment of a military base at Tsingtao, Shantung province since, went ahead with a minimum of friction between Japanese and foreign residents.

Four cases in which Japanese soldiers searched British property for "bad elements" were reported.

JAPAN DENIES SHIP BUILDING

TOKYO. (AP)—The Japanese foreign office today categorically denied the navy was constructing or planning to construct "such big battleships" as have been reported.

At the same time, the foreign office said it was impossible to mention any definite tonnage.

GENERAL SHOT FOR TREASON

HANKOW, China. (AP)—General Han Fu-chu, who failed to prevent the Japanese armies from conquering most of Shantung province, today was found guilty of treason and sentenced to death.

General Han had been governor and military commander of Shantung since 1930. Shortly after he abandoned his capital, Tsinan, in the Japanese invaders last month he was arrested on orders of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

SEEKS PEACE IN POETRY

TOKYO. (AP)—Hopes for peaceful "world conditions" were expressed in verse by Emperor Hirohito in his contribution to the annual published today. The theme was "Morning in a Shrine Garden," and the emperor's poem was:

"Peaceful is morning in the shrine garden; World conditions, it is hoped, also will be peaceful."

JUROR ABSENT, TRIAL GOES ON

With one empty chair in the jury box, trial of Earl Ira Morgan on robbery charges went forward today in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court.

Mrs. Ursula Creighton, the twelfth juror, still was reported ill, and the trial proceeded with 11 jurors by stipulation of attorneys.

Her illness caused postponement of the trial after it had progressed several days last week.

JAPAN OPENS NEW DRIVE FROM AIR

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese air-planes today bombarded defenses of Suchow, center of Chinese resistance along the main east-west railway, the Lunghai.

Japanese spokesmen said locomotive sheds, freight trains and nearby troop barracks were destroyed in the attack.

Japanese columns pushing toward the city from the north and south fought indecisive engagements.

A few miles to the south and southeast of Shanghai Japanese infantry and air attacks were credited by the spokesmen as cleaning out all Chinese guerrilla opposition in Pootung.

A force of about 1000 Chinese had clung to barricades in Pootung, across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai, challenging complete Japanese occupation of the Shanghai area.

(At Peiping, there were new reports of activities of troops of the Soviet-inspired republic of outer Mongolia in western Suiyuan province. Outer Mongolian troops were said to be within a few miles of Paotow, railroad of the line to Peiping occupied by Japanese garrisons.

(North China travelers said Japanese troops were distributed thinly along railways which Chinese cross at will.)

Chinese asserted their troops had attacked Wuhu, Yangtze river port 60 miles upstream from Nan-king, and Japanese admitted China had conducted air raids near Wuhu but said little damage resulted.

Two Japanese airplanes attempting to raid Lanchow in Kansu province were said by Chinese to have been driven off by Chinese aircraft. Far to the south, Japanese again bombarded points along the Canton-Hankow railway.

Japanese officials in Shanghai placed a prohibition order on removal of goods from Hongkong and Yangtzeop areas of the International Settlement which have been occupied by Japanese since hostilities started.

ROSS KIDNAP CASE NEARS CONCLUSION

CHICAGO. (AP)—John Henry Seadlund, confessed kidnaper of Charles S. Ross, said today while federal agents forged the last links in the chain of evidence they hoped will send the former 27-year-old lumberjack to the electric chair.

Federal prosecutors indicated they would ask the grand jury, scheduled to convene today, to indict Seadlund under the Lindbergh kidnap law.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, said Seadlund, who was also known as Peter Anders, had confessed kidnapping Ross on Sept. 25, and later shooting and killing him and James Edward Gray, the wealthy logger's accomplice in the crime. Their bodies were found chained in a crude, woodlath cave in the Wisconsin north woods.

The Lindbergh law provides the death penalty if the victim had not been liberated unharmed. Lawyers said that since Seadlund made a complete confession and led federal agents to the bodies and to his cached ransom he would likely plead guilty in the remote hope of evading the death sentence.

Seadlund, who Hoover said, was launched on his crime career by Tommy Carroll, Dillinger gangster since slain, was held in a lockup in the 19th floor offices of the federal bureau of investigation.

Agents stood guard. He was brought to Chicago Saturday night by plane from St. Paul where the agents spent several days in a speedy clean up of the case.

Shortly after the party's arrival, Hoover, who returned to Washington yesterday, told reporters about Seadlund's life.

"He was born at Ironton, Minn.," Hoover said, "had a high school education, but became a woodsman and hunter when he grew up."

"During a hunting trip he met Carroll, who was hiding in the north woods in 1934. He carried food to the gangster's hideout, and became interested in crime through his friendship with Carroll. Later Carroll was killed by police. Seadlund then began a series of hold-ups, the first of which was at a filling station in Crosby, Minn., and a restaurant at Brainerd, Minn. He adopted the alias of Anders to spare his family, as his mother and two sisters still live at Ironton."

The chief of the federal agents said Seadlund wandered from coast to coast, robbing banks and business houses. Twice during his wanderings he was arrested, but always escaped. The state of Washington where he worked as a lumberjack.

"In February of last year," Hoover said, "he was on his way east again when he met Gray, a red-haired boy of 19. Gray, a Kentuckian, boasted that he had been a robber and killer in the South. Seadlund took the youth as his partner in crime."

Hoover disclosed that Ross, a retired manufacturer, asked his wife to pay the kidnapers $5000 for his release, refusing to make the amount $50,000, as they demanded. Seadlund added a cipher after Ross had penned the note, Hoover said, making the amount $50,000.

Seadlund, who was seized at Santa Anita race track, near Los Angeles, about 10 days ago, led Hoover and his aides to a cache of $32,625 of the $50,000 ransom money in Wisconsin and Minnesota. Previously the agents found $5620 in ransom bills on him in Los Angeles and $728 additional money.

Meanwhile, it was reported that Mrs. Paul Seadlund, 50, of Ironton, planned to visit her son within a few days.

Blaming his troubles on lack of work, the widowed mother said yesterday she had "turned gray the past three years worrying over John. I'm glad they caught him."

The lantern-lighted pageant, and the grunting and growling of Mr. Flipper collected quite a crowd. When daylight came, a motorcycle escort became necessary.

Sandwich wagons sold hot dogs, the town band and drill team turned out, and the Forward Hayward club marched along with the perspiring Mr. Flipper. A little later, two Hayward merchants who didn't believe in Sunday closing broke out flags and the engineer at the light plant tied down the whistle.

Mr. Flipper was tiring, but he could smell the salt water now, and he advanced his stroke to 120 a minute.

With whistles blowing, flags waving and the crowd cheering, Mr. Flipper began stroking 122, and crossed the shore line in a burst of speed that swept the spectators out of themselves.

LABOR SAID HOLDING UP SHIPPING

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The maritime commission reported to congress today that private ship operators, despite the urgent need for new vessels, "hesitate in the face of the present labor situation."

Chaotic labor conditions, signalized by demands of the crews, "sit-down" and "quickie" strikes, and slipshod performance of duties are characteristic of the industry," the commission said in a report reviewing its work for the year ending last Oct. 25.

"No lasting cure will be effected until the jurisdictional strife now prevalent in maritime labor is terminated and a more cooperative working arrangement is reached by the unions and the ship operators."

The commission declared its work has laid the foundation for a long-range construction program.

Bills are pending on congress to carry out its recommendations for a maritime meditation board and a program for training young men for a career at sea. Another recommendation is for continuous employment of seamen, instead of signing them for each trip.

BURNS TO HEAD S. A. REALTY CO.

LeRoy Burns of this city has purchased the controlling capital stock in the Santa Ana Realty corporation from John D. Kelly. It was announced this morning.

With the completion of this transaction, Burns will take over the management of the realty corporation here, a business which was established by Kelly in 1933.

"I know of no one to whom I could better entrust the firm here than to Mr. Burns," Kelly said today. Kelly will continue to be associated with the realty corporation keeping his office at the headquarters of the establishment, but expects to devote most of his time to his private business affairs, he said today.

ONE KILLED IN DUPONT PLANT BLAST

DEEP WATER, N. J. (AP)—Company investigators searched through twisted metal and blackened bricks today for the cause of an explosion that shattered a four story unit of the Dupont Dye works and killed at least one workman yesterday. Another workman was missing and hope was abandoned for his safety.

Four survivors were asked to describe the odor of acetylene gas which they said caused three fellow workmen to remain in the plant during the early morning lunch period.

While the three were tracing the leak, the first explosion cut loose. Seven or eight blasts followed, shaking flower pots from window sills in the town and stirring residents 20 miles away.

One survivor quoted Charles Forshey, mechanic of Central Park, as saying "wouldn't she go up now if there was a spark." Then Forshey went back into the plant.

He died of burns in a hospital at Wilmington, Del. Raymond Hale, night shift foreman, was taken there in a critical condition, and Earl Hale, of Central Park, could not immediately be found in the plant wreckage. The Hales were not related.

Hale, night shift foreman, and Earl Hale, of Central Park, could not immediately be found in the plant wreckage. The Hales were not related.

E. I. Dupont de Nemours & Co., operators of the works, estimated damage, including that from fire following the explosions, at $100,000.

Dr. William Kirk, assistant plant manager, said the origin of the blasts would not be known until the investigation was completed. "That may be several days, possibly never," he added.

The acetylene gas was used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber, a product of the plant.

COMMISSION OF PICTURE STIRS HUNTINGTON BEACH C OF C

S. A. CHAMBER PUBLICITY ATTACKED

Wood Says Oversight Unintentional

Demands to know why Santa Ana must treat Huntington Beach as a "forgotten city" were delivered to Secretary Howard I. Wood of the chamber of commerce today by Secretary Will Gallienne of the Huntington Beach chamber.

Gallienne, in a two-page communication, attacked the Santa Ana chamber's new descriptive pamphlets on the grounds no representation was given to the city, despite the fact that other Orange county coast communities were included.

"You have told the story of Laguna with five pictures," he said, "Newport and Balboa with seven pictures, and San Clemente with one picture."

"I am very much surprised and also quite concerned regarding the continuation on the part of Santa Ana of leaving Huntington Beach in the background and completely in the dark."

Wood, however, today described the "incident," blamed the whole thing on exigencies of makeup and selection of pictures.

"We got two pictures from Huntington Beach," he said, "fully intending to give the city representation. But when the folder was made up there simply wasn't room for everything, and we had to pick the best."

"Our intention was, and is, to give representation and credit to all parts of the county."

Secretary V. D. Johnson of the Orange chamber and director of county publicity, in the meantime, wrote the Santa Ana offices today with high praise for the new folder. Besides complimenting Wood on the pamphlets "general excellency," Johnson said:

"You have not only done your own city justice, but have shown a fine spirit of unselfishness in calling attention to other localities that might be of interest to the tourist of homeseecker."

Gallienne, however, announced he was "completely stumped" by what he can do to put Huntington Beach and Santa Ana on a friendly basis.

"Huntington Beach," he continued, "has the largest assessed valuation on the coast line and the second largest in Orange county, and gives to the coffers of Orange county a great portion of its wealth—namely 23 million dollars per year for oil and petroleum products, of which Huntington Beach pays a big share, has the finest, safest, widest, cleanest bathing beach on the coast of California, has the longest municipal concrete fishing and pleasure pier on the coast."

"Has the best fishing ground on the coast, namely 'Halibut Flats,' where fishermen from Newport, Balboa, San Clemente and other points catch their fish."

"Has made a larger percentage of gain in entertaining beach crowds and tourists during the past two seasons than any other beach community, yet Santa Ana leaves Huntington Beach out of their new booklet, that is to advertise Santa Ana and the Orange County Forty Miles of Colorful Coast."

"We have been working for better transportation to Santa Ana, and for more cooperation between merchants to keep business in Orange county—and yet we find ourselves as has been in the past in the eyes of Santa Ana—a forgotten city who pays and pays and cannot receive recognition."

"If you want to tell the people about the Forty Miles of Colorful Coast on Orange county, why not tell them all we have?"

The booklets in question devote four pages in the center to description of coast communities.

But, as Wood said today:

"After all, we didn't have room for everything. We did the best we could, but there are at least a half dozen other communities that aren't represented either."

1000 ATTEND DEDICATION SERVICES

Santa Ana church night will be featured at the First Presbyterian church tonight at 7:30 o'clock, with the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, and O. H. Barr as speakers. The program is one of a series of "Dedication Week" services being held at the church this week.

About 1000 persons were present for yesterday afternoon's dedication of the Harry H. Ball memorial chimes and the Emma Rankin memorial organ. The sanctuary and the auditorium were opened to afford more room, and several score other people were turned away because of lack of seating space.

The chimes were presented to the new church by Mrs. Harry Ball, and the organ by J. H. Rankin and Herbert Rankin. The latter is a three manual Estey, with 24 stops, including a harp and chimes, all of which were showed to advantage by the dedication recital presented by Clarence Mader, minister of music at the Immanuel Presbyterian church, Los Angeles.

Following the special program tonight, an open house reception will be held so that Santa Anans may tour the new $75,000 structure and view its many features, according to the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, Presbyterian minister.

A violin recital by Miss Barbara Jeanne Lowry will be a feature of the reception hour, and members of the Ladies Aid society will be hostesses for the occasion.

Whitford L. Hall, minister of music, will present the Presbyterian Cathedral choir in a musical program during tonight's services.

On Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Orange county church night will be observed, with Dr. Graham C. Hunter of Fullerton and Dr. H. A. Johnston of Anaheim as speakers. Tomorrow the new church will be host to an all-day meeting of the Presbytery of Los Angeles.

Assisting Dr. Dunning with the institute were Mrs. E. O. Lee of Ontario, Mrs. Mary Ryan and Mrs. Thomas of Santa Ana. Discussions led by this group centered around programs and the best ways and means for dealing with children.

IT'S LIKE this

By DONALD BUTTON
"When Art begins to tell a story deliberately, that is always the beginning of the end."

"A painter is one who thinks he sees."
For "what is good, what is bad I ask myself is this person succeeding in telling me his story in so convincing a manner that I understand what he is trying to tell me or not?"

This is Hendrik Willem Van Loon I quote, the book his recent published "The Arts." One of my friends (in discussing the book) dismissed Van Loon as "light" (i. e., without pithy substance).

To this I replied Van Loon was probably the one who was the author who was making Art "human" for the layman.

Had not his story of Rembrandt endeared that worthy gentleman to thousands who before could only say "why, yes, he's a Dutch painter?"

Had he not followed this with a geography that was an oasis upon the sandy plain of textbooks?

With these I made my point. Van Loon is entertaining, but he never forgets he has something to say.

To resume an examination of the book in question, Van Loon frankly states he wrote the book for the two red-mittened children he saw from his train window.

And so interesting have I found his survey, I heartily recommend donning the red mittens (if necessary) for a trip through "The Arts."

He intrigues you with words like serendipity, he never gets involved in technical points, and he frequently suggests independent investigations that might turn his trial art upside down.

I'll guarantee you'll find "The Arts" exciting!

Seriously, too, I recommend it to every dauber who thinks the world ought to keep him supplied with paint, prunes and canvas!

There are enough people who really have something to convey, that those who are lacking in ability should quietly shoulder their shovels or pick up their sewing and steal away.

The pre-requisites for "good" painting demand so much I am sure many of our so-called painters should have long since abandoned their pursuit of the Muse!

CRACK IN DAM STARTS PANIC

EBBW VALE, Monmouth, England. (AP)—Specially trained air raid wardens were pressed into duty to warn residents of nearby Beaufort that the town was threatened by a cracked dam holding back 200,000,000 cubic feet of water.

Scenes of panic followed the warning. Two thousand miners in one valley colliery refused to enter the workings. All persons in the path of the possible flood were ordered to abandon their homes and children were sent hurriedly to schools outside the danger area.

Engineers were trying to relieve pressure on the dam, which was weakened by heavy rains. The dam forms the new Blaen-Y-Cwm reservoir above Beaufort, a mining town of 3700 near the Welsh border.

Italy Planes Head For South America

ROME. (AP)—Three big Italian tri-motored airplanes, one of them piloted by Premier Mussolini's son Bruno, took off from the Guidonia military airport today on an experimental flight to South America.

The three planes, named "green mice," headed across Italy for the Sahara desert. They intended to halt at Dakar, Senegal, 2484 miles from their starting point, before crossing the Atlantic to Natal, Brazil, and Rio de Janeiro.

Col. Attilio Biseo, young Mussolini's flying comrade of the Spanish civil war, and Maj. Nino Moscatelli piloted the other two planes. Each plane had a five-man crew consisting of two pilots, two mechanics and a radio operator.

Associated Press To Get New Home

NEW YORK. (AP)—The future home of the Associated Press will be erected in Rockefeller Center, where general headquarters and the New York office of the world's largest cooperative news and picture gathering organization will be located in a building bearing its own name.

Construction of the Associated Press building will begin shortly as the first of the units included in the program recently announced by Rockefeller Center.

JUDGE SETS FINE RECORD

ORANGE.—Justice of the Peace Cal D. Lester is no respecter of persons when it comes to handing out fines for drunk driving, and to satisfy a curious reporter, he leaped through the past nine months' records and struck an average.

It was found that the average fine for drunk driving was 158 days in jail, and the average cash fine levied was $308. He is almost certain that this is the heaviest fine record in the county for this offense.

His record has caused a falling off in business of the court, for Judge Lester said that no drunk driver has been arrested in his district since Dec. 4.

500 AT BEACH CHURCH PARLEY

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—With an approximate attendance of 500, the last day of the three-day Church of God state convention was held in the Huntington Beach city auditorium yesterday.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Raymond Stricklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stricklin, was united in marriage yesterday to Dolores Grieving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grieving of San Bernardino, in the San Bernardino Catholic church. The Rev. Father Dinn officiated.

Attending the couple were Miss June Shroder of San Bernardino and Ted Severon of Los Angeles. Cleo Smith of Huntington Beach sang.

The couple left after the ceremony for a honeymoon in San Francisco. They will be at home after Feb. 1 on North Main street in Huntington Beach.

Miners Injured In Explosion

BECKEMEYER. (AP)—Officials of the Beckemeyer Coal company mine reported today several men had been injured in a mine explosion.

The mine clerk said all of the face of about 90 miners had been accounted for, and he believed only four were burned. The origin of the blast was not determined immediately.

This was the second explosion in the Beckemeyer mine within the past six weeks. Three were injured fatally and five others hurt in a gas explosion on Dec. 11.

Former Official Killed in Crash

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP)—Alfred C. Coughlin, former tax collector for the town of Lincoln, was killed today as 15 motor vehicles piled up in collision on the icy, fog shrouded Concord turn pike.

State police said Coughlin was killed as he stepped from his car to inspect damage caused by an automobile which had skidded into the rear of his machine. A third vehicle, which suddenly emerged from the fog, cut him down.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Coming out onto the brightly lighted avenue, Merrie drew her first long breath. Cars fled by like water bugs in a tub, shooting this way and that.

There was commotion and hurry. But for the ache in her finger she might have thought she had dreamed the terrifying moment under the trees.

As she turned toward the twinkling lights of the Franklin Manor or a car drew up to the curb. It stopped a few paces in front of Merrie. She caught her breath and ran faster.

"Merrie—" a voice called and she spun about on one toe. "What's your hurry, Miss New York?" the voice came again. Like a homing pigeon she dashed for the car.

"Jim—Jim—let me in quick." When he released the catch she scrambled in beside him. Her teeth chattered and she covered against him. "Get me away from here," she begged. "Those men—" "What men, Merrie? Tell me—did someone speak to you?"

"Speak to me," she gulped. "No, they didn't say a word. They simply robbed me, that's all."

"Robbed you? What—when?—where?"

HAND SHAKES
Somewhat restored she told Jim the story. When she related how a bulky man had slapped his hand over her mouth Jim exclaimed under his breath.

In the light from the dash he examined her finger. It was red and swollen, rough where the tender skin had been scraped.

Her hand shook while Jim wrapped his handkerchief around the injured finger.

"We must report the robbery," he muttered, then added, as if to himself, "Honey-moon girl attacked in park. Another headline for you, Merrie." He sighed.

"Is there any chance of getting the ring back, Jim?" she asked, a little subdued by his evident displeasure. I paid fifteen hundred dollars for it.

"Not one chance in a million," flatly. "Could you identify the men?"

"No—I haven't an idea—" "Was the ring insured?" "No—no, it wasn't."

Jim groaned and started the car. "Why are you so foolish, Merrie?" he asked.

"Why didn't you leave an expensive thing like that at home if you felt that you must walk in the park? Do you know what might have happened to you?"

entrance to the Franklin Manor and she got out as quickly as she had scrambled in. "Juicy bit or not I'd be a fool not to report it. Good night."

With head high she turned away. "Merrie—wait—"

SCARED
"What for? Surely you don't want to be mixed up with the notorious Merrie Drake. Thank you so much for being helpful and understanding," she said icily.

She marched to within 10 feet of the hotel entrance. Here she turned and ran back to Jim sitting motionless behind the wheel.

"Jim," she said shakily. "I'm scared. Emma isn't there and I'm scared. Just suppose those men are waiting for me up there? Please, Jim—." She hid hard into her lower lip to steady it.

In the apartment he called the police station and reported Merrie's loss. She sat on the edge of the chair while they waited for the detectives.

She was not so concerned over the fate of her ring as over Jim's disapproval. Once she tried to make peace with him.

"Jim," she faltered. "I know you must think I'm a crazy kid and I guess I am. But I can't seem to help it. I got myself into this mess and I can't get out."

"Do you want to get out?"

Emphatically she nodded. "I was thinking about it today. I want a little place in the country and neighbors and a fire place."

EXPLODES
Her fluffy little dog rolled off his satin cushion and ambled toward her. She picked him up, cuddling him against her neck.

"Petty Pie wants a place where he can play."

Jim jumped to his feet. He exploded. He seemed to have been waiting for a chance to explode. "Petty Pie—of all the insane, idiotic names. And must you make a fool of yourself over him? You treat him as if he were a baby."

"He's my dog. I'll love him if I choose," lightly kissing the little cold nose.

They were off again. Jim paced rapidly back and forth, hands in pockets, face flushed with anger. Merrie caressed Petty Pie and glared at him.

Jim looked at them wrathfully. "It's disgusting—revolting—"

RELENTS
"So you said," freezingly. "Shall we drop the subject?" Jim continued to stride about. At last he dropped to a chair beside Merrie and looked at her, making a palpable attempt at patience.

relenting. She was so small and young, so very sweet. "Merrie—are you sure of Curt Rawson and his sister?"

"I know you think me a meddling fool, but I don't trust them—I have a strong feeling—"

"I reserve the right to choose my friends," she retorted. "But you are alone in New York—"

COLORFUL TALE
"Oh, no. I have a self appointed bodyguard."

"Self appointed—ye gods—"

The door bell brought them both to their feet. Two detectives came in. They questioned Merrie, showed her cigarettes and shook their heads. Not a thing to go on except Merrie's swollen finger. Naturally they would watch the pawn shop and do everything in their power, but it was pretty hopeless.

"I reserve the right to choose my friends," she retorted. "But you are alone in New York—"

When Merrie and Jim were alone the air seemed to have cleared. He grinned at her good naturedly.

"Anyway you're safe and sound," he said. "Let's not worry too much over the loss of a ring."

Instantly she responded to his mood. "I'm not worried but—I feel sort of shaky—like I might cry—and I never cry—no since I was a little bit of a girl have I cried." Her voice was full of unshed tears.

"I'll show food, that's it. Come on—I need you what a swell egg scrambler I am. He led her to the kitchen.

First he filled a bowl with hot water and Merrie gingerly put her aching hand into it. Jim whistled while he worked.

He set water to boil, made thin slices of toast and poured a frothy egg mixture into a frying pan where butter sizzled and browned.

JIM CARED
As Merrie watched him the weakness went from her knees, the lonely ache from her heart. Jim cared for her. He couldn't be so cross if he didn't care.

She found a glass of marmalade and they ate cozily in the tiny kitchen. After cups and cups of tea Merrie had all but forgotten the incident in the park.

Jim leaned across the table and put his hand over hers.

"Why don't you cut it, Merrie?" "I want to," wistfully. "You're too fine—too sweet. This kind of a life will kill everything lovely in you."

"I know." "Curt Rawson isn't your kind. As I said, I don't trust him."

"Oh, he's harmless." She changed the subject. "Jim—if I leave here and go to some quiet place will you come to see me?"

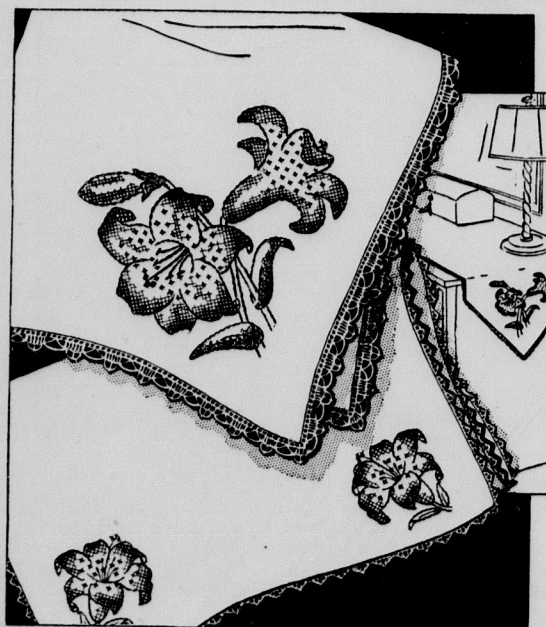

He got up and pulled her to her feet. "Will you want me to come, Merrie?"

She nodded and loosened one hand to twist a button on his coat. "I'll do anything to make you like me." She raised shy eyes. "In case you're interested, I hate my little dog."

Quite suddenly she was in his arms.

A Treat in Colorful Cross Stitch

PATTERN 5976

A treat to the eyes and a treat to the fingers . . . graceful tiger lilies worked out in 6-to-the-inch crosses and a little outline and single stitch. For most effective treatment use two gay shades or various colors. A simple design that lends beauty to tea cloths, scarfs, towels or pillows, and it makes such grand pick-up work. In pattern 5976 you will find a transfer pattern of two and two reverse motifs 8½x9 inches and two and two reverse motifs 3¼x3½ inches; illustrations of the stitches used; material requirements; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Tiger Lily Is Effective with Little Work

STATE'S WINE PRODUCTION INCREASES

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Growing consumption of California wines has created new interest in the consumer problems of storage and selection of the fermented grape.

Figures compiled by the Wine Institute showed this state's production of all types of wines during the first 10 months of 1937 was 45,578,720 gallons, an increase of 14 per cent over the same period in 1936.

Wine users in increasing numbers are installing their own wine cellars, studying varieties and storage methods.

Growers meantime are devoting more acreage to better grapes, vintners are seeking to improve methods with a view to competing on an equal basis with European producers, and the consumer is buying so much wine that he has placed the total national per capita consumption at an estimated 5.43 gallons annually (Wine Institute estimate).

This figure, although far short of the French average consumption of more than 40 gallons per capita, is something for farmers to consider in this agricultural, recently "dry" state.

But wine consumers, many of whom regard their small bottled stock as an absorbing hobby, are not particularly interested in acreage statistics. They are asking in increasing numbers how to build wine cellars, what to put in them and how to care for a modest stock of wine.

Some of those bitten with the urge to stock a cellar say it becomes as engaging a hobby as model railroading or stamp collecting. They cite the fact that California standards of purity, alcohol, sugar and fixed acid content are higher than those in France, but they are interested chiefly in having a cellar and something to put in it.

STORM MENACES ILLINOIS AREA

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Hundreds of families in the Rockford vicinity abandoned their homes early today as a 12-hour downpour of rain flooded two frozen creeks, backed up and inundated stores and dwellings. The rainfall totaled 2 1/2 inches, and the storm continued this forenoon.

Ice prevented the streams from absorbing the rain.

Many marooned persons were rescued from tops of parked automobiles as the turbulent waters rose.

The Illinois river and its tributaries near Peru, Ill., were rising rapidly as the result of an all-night rain.

Christian Science Churches

The words of the Psalmist: "Thou, O Lord, are a God full of compassion, and gracious, long-suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth," were the golden text in the lesson-sermon on "Truth" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The lesson included these Bible sections from John: "Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. . . I have many things to say and to judge of you: but he that sent me is true, and I speak to the world those things which I have heard of him. . . As he spake these words, many believed on him. Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed: And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Among the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was this statement: "Now, as of old, Truth casts out evils and heals the sick."

Stork Nears for Blondell-Powell

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Joan Blondell's screen career promises to be eclipsed this year by a blessed event.

Warner Brothers studio announced the actress would retire temporarily and a co-starring role with Jimmy Cagney, for which she was considered, would be given to Marie Wilson.

Miss Blondell's husband, Dick Powell, recently took steps to adopt her four-year-old son by a previous marriage to Cameraman George Barnes. The Powells expect a baby within a few months.

Orange Prices Up On London Market

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Cables on London citrus markets to the federal-state market service said prices of grapefruit and oranges tended higher there. Oranges shipped both from Palestine and California showed waste.

"California oranges," the cable report said, "are breaking down badly from stem and molds about a week after unloading."

Possibly an important influence in the London prices incoming trade was the report from Spain that frost damaged a half or more of the Spanish crop.

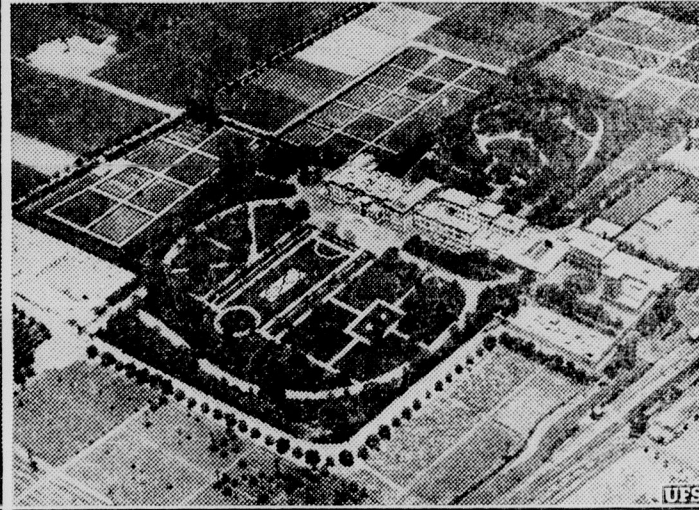

Modern Pharaoh Weds Amid Splendor

EGYPT'S KING MARRIED—A gigantic spectacle of jubilation, with rajahs, shields and scores of foreign dignitaries attending, marked the wedding of King Farouk, 18-year-old sovereign of Egypt, to Miss Farida Zulficar, 17, daughter of an Alexandrian judge, in Cairo on Jan. 20. A week of festivities followed the simple religious ceremony ordered by the young king, idol of his people. This included a state procession in which the king and queen rode in the royal coach, fireworks on the river Nile, civic and military parades, state banquets and an illumination of all Cairo.

Many believe the discovery in 1936 of the great stele of Amenhotep II, shown at lower left, in the diggings north of the Sphinx, preordain a glorious reign for young King Farouk and his lovely queen, shown at top left and right. Like Farouk, Amenhotep ascended the throne of Egypt on his 18th birthday, in 1447 B. C., was more than six feet tall—a daring horseman and athlete.

Wedding ceremonies were in Koubbeh Palace, Cairo. View at lower right, made from an Imperial Airways plane, shows the formal gardens, model farms and recreation grounds that are part of the vast estate centering on the five-story limestone palace, one of the show places of Egypt.

U. S. TO MOVE BOMBERS TO HAWAII

HAMILTON FIELD. (AP)—The United States army moved toward bolstering Hawaii against a possible air attacker today by announcing it would transfer a powerful 13-plane bombardment squadron from here to the strategic islands.

Thirty officers and 180 men involved in the transfer will sail from San Francisco Feb. 1, aboard the army transport Republic. The bombers, twin-engine ships of the latest design, will be sent to the islands by boat and not by flight as has been the navy's custom the past year in transferring 48 planes from the mainland to Hawaii.

Transfer of the planes, comprising the 31st bombardment squadron, will give the islands what unofficial observers estimated was approximately 228 fighting planes, 75 of which are believed to be naval ships.

Hamilton Field officers said orders for the movement were received yesterday from Washington and that replacements for this field, 12 miles north of San Francisco, are expected later.

The transfer, a move toward bringing Hawaiian air defenses to full strength, will be permanent, and families of the personnel involved will be taken to the islands aboard the Republic.

Major James G. Taylor is to remain in command of the squadron, which will be based at Hickam field, new army airport under construction near Honolulu.

Chicago Lifts Ban On Nazi Picture

CHICAGO. (AP)—Showing of the newsreel picture "Inside Nazi Germany," in Chicago theaters had the approval today of Police Commissioner James P. Allman.

He reversed the police censor board's ban on the picture, and ordered a permit issued for its showing in Chicago.

"I have seen the picture," Allman said yesterday, "and the permit to show it in Chicago will be issued."

Last Monday the censors held that the film constituted unfair criticism of the Nazi government. The ban brought vigorous protests from various organizations.

woolen dresses and galoshes were among the fastest moving items. "Many stocks of men's suits were reduced below normal, and enough overcoats were sold to lighten the carry-over."

"Sales of apparel for southern resorts and ski outfits for northern playgrounds increased. "House furnishings, furniture and floor coverings received more attention. In silverware and jewelry, emphasis was on the higher priced offerings."

Eight Lives Left For Cycle-Riding Puss—Fails Crash

SANTA BARBARA. (AP)—The family cat escaped unhurt, but Mr. and Mrs. David E. Borges of Salinas were treated at a hospital here yesterday for serious injuries in a motorcycle accident.

Borges lost control of the motorcycle when a cross draft of wind struck it yesterday. He and his wife suffered possible fractures and internal injuries as the machine plunged off the road, but a cat riding in a box on the rear wheel guard was only shaken up.

Plans will be available for the inspection of interested persons. The following are among the businesses represented: bakery, gift shop, grocery, food store, hardware, shoe store, haberdashery, drug store, bar, tobacco store, dry goods, women's accessory store, jewelry, five and ten cent store and perfume shop.

NOTED BRITISH SCULPTOR DIES

ROME. (AP)—Captain Adrian Jones, 92, sculptor, soldier and writer, died today.

He was best known for his peace quadrangle on the constitution hill arch and the Cavalry war memorial. He served 25 years in the British army and has been considered the oldest British survivor of the Anglo-Ethiopian war of 1868.

DRUNKS WERE OLD PROBLEM

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Few problems which harass modern citizens are without counterpart in ancient history, declares Dr. Arthur Patch McKinlay, professor of Latin at the University of California here, whose academic hobby is matching modern situations with those of the ancient world.

"The recent decision of a New York judge in dismissing a charge of murder against a drunk driver opens up the age-old debate as to the responsibility of alcoholics," says Dr. McKinlay. "The ancient had to face the same problem. There were those who would hold drinkers to strict accountability. Among these was the Lesbian Pitacus, who provided in his laws that the penalty for drunk offenders should be twice as severe as for sober malefactors."

"On the other hand, the indulgent point of view had supporters among ancient lawmakers. Among these was one Zaleucus, who formed a code of sumptuary laws for the Greek colonist's town of Locri in southern Italy. This lawmaker, according to Aristotle and other observers, recognized human frailty to the extent that though he limited a lady to one attendant, she might have two if she were drunk!"

Clipper Ready To Start Again

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—The China Clipper, with her original load of eight passengers and her crew, was ready to take off again this afternoon for Honolulu. Early Saturday the Clipper returned to the mainland at San Pedro after a reserve gasoline tank line developed trouble when the ship was 600 miles out on a scheduled flight from Alameda to Honolulu.

Capt. J. H. Tilton piloted the Clipper back to the Alameda air base yesterday.

Lumber Schooner Runs Aground

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The coastwise lumber schooner Noyo ran aground at 6:45 a. m. today at Point Edith in Suisun Bay, the marine exchange here reported.

The schooner is owned by the Union Lumber Co. Suisun Bay is an extension of San Francisco Bay and Point Edith is three miles east of Martinez.

Ten Injured in "El" Collision

CHICAGO. (AP)—Ten persons were injured today when a west-bound Lake street elevated train crashed into the rear of a west-bound train at the Laramie avenue station on the West Side.

Most seriously injured was William Spencer, 52, motorman of the second train. The other injured were negroes.

U. S.-Britain Pact Seen In Singapore Rendezvous

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

NEW YORK. (AP)—There is considerably more than meets the eye in the visit of American warships to the British naval base at Singapore for the forthcoming formal inauguration of the most powerful station of its kind in existence. The British authorities at Singapore have expressed pleased "surprise" that the descendants of John Paul Jones are en route to the Far East—surprise because the show is strictly an empire affair (so they say), and no foreign nations have been invited.

It would seem from the British account that it is an old Washington custom to dispatch warships willy-nilly to strange and secret foreign naval forces without being hidden. Naturally, though, the Yankees are jolly welcome and all that sort of thing.

One suspects that this hospitable explanation isn't intended to be anything more than a tale for the marines. It is by way of being a neat bit of propaganda to tell the world in general and Japan in particular that Uncle Sam is dropping in for gin and bitters at John Bull's naval party, and that no other foreigner has been invited.

Why? It is to give the impressions that so far as concerns the greatest naval powers it's a case of "what's mine is yours."

U. S.-BRITAIN PACT It is to call attention to the general understanding that if the United States ever should become involved in trouble in the Orient, she could use Britain's huge naval base.

It is to give Japan (and all others concerned) just a momentary flash of joint Anglo-American naval action in that part of the world should the occasion arise.

Britain has spent $75,000,000 in fortifying the island of Singapore, which pokes its nose up out of the warm equatorial waters just south of the tip of the pendulum-like Malay peninsula. It is the naval expert's dream of perfection, for it is fitted out with vast dry-docks and every gadget known to naval science for offensive or defensive warfare.

The main purpose of this base (the expense of which caused much grumbling in England in the hard days just after the World War) is frankly to protect Australia, New Zealand, India and other British domains from Japan—to keep Nippon in order, as it were.

However, it always has been said that Singapore also would afford protection for the United States and Holland. The Dutch East Indies nestle up against Singapore like birds in a nest. Manila is only 1600 miles to the northeast.

MANY WARSHIPS British naval people claim that Singapore is as invulnerable as the Rock of Gibraltar. It also could mother an armada of warships. When the visiting American

COLD WAVE AIDS TRADE

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stimulated by new demand for winter merchandise, retail trade this week rose 1 to 4 per cent above last week, and 2 to 8 per cent above a year ago, at leading distribution centers throughout the nation, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

"Snow and cold weather pushed winter merchandise to the top of shoppers' lists," said the credit agency. "The impact of this unanticipated demand and the sustained interest in the aggressively conducted clearance promotions made deeper inroads on retailers' falling inventories."

"Fur garments, women's coats, by its captors. It is a nightmare for the submarine sailors."

Japan squirms every time she thinks of Singapore. There never has been any concealment of the purpose of this base. Baron Wakatsuki, one of Nippon's representatives at the naval conference in London in 1930, called the turn when he remarked:

"I don't like to see Britain arming against Japan."

MAKE SMART PANELED SHIRTWAIST-ER FROM MARIAN MARTIN DESIGN

PATTERN 9596

The tailored shirtwaist takes an important place in the mid-season fashion picture; it's so right for so many occasions. There's hardly a moment of the day when a dress like this one from Pattern 9596 is not appropriate. You'll find its lines exceptionally becoming. This style is particularly easy to make, because the smart bosom front is out all in one with the yoke. Effective details are the collar, button accents and the center, skirt pleat. WOMAN WILL ENTER RACE FOR SENATE

OTTUMWA, Ia. (AP)—Mrs. Ellsworth Richardson, who was the first woman to receive the American farm bureau's distinguished medal for meritorious service to agriculture, announced today she would campaign for Iowa's U. S. senatorial nomination on a program advocating world peace, freedom, happiness and security.

The 59-year-old farm woman, veteran of many campaigns for economic and social reform for agriculture, surprise party leaders when she said she would attempt to wrest the Democratic nomination from Senator Guy Gillette and other possible aspirants in June.

Mrs. Richardson will be the first woman in Iowa to seek congressional office since suffrage was adopted in 1920.

Plainly, Mrs. Richardson bases her entry in the political field on the theory that women have a "definite place in politics."

"They," she emphasized, "are affected as much as anyone else. Every American has a place in politics if he or she cares what happens to the nation, since politics are the means to an end we desire. Women are no exception. They're citizens."

Mrs. Richardson, mother of two sons, believes she knows what the average woman wants, and that the average man clings to the same beliefs.

JUDGE CALLS SPECIAL JURY

A special venire of prospective jurors was ordered today by Superior Judge H. C. Ames to try the $15,000 lawsuit Roy Head, service station owner, in connection with an auto-ambulance crash last June 10 at First street and Verano road.

Several of the regular jury panel, which will expire Feb. 1, were found to have sat in a previous lawsuit over the same crash and were excused by Judge Ames.

Head is suing Charles C. Wilson, driver of one car, and the county for demolition of his service station when a county ambulance and the Wilson auto collided and the ambulance crashed into the station and burst into flames. Wilson got a $2800 judgment from the county in a previous trial; and Mrs. Ernest Biggs, wife of an intern killed in the crash, has a suit pending against Kilson for $25,000. The latter case was tried once but ended in a hung jury. It is now set for trial early next month.

POLICE PROBE HATCHET DEATH

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—Coroner R. E. Williams attempted today to identify the badly decomposed body of a man, believed hacked to death two months ago with a hatchet.

The body, together with a blood-stained hatchet and wooden bread board, was found yesterday near the City creek highway.

Engineering Is Open to Women, Dean Says

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Modern engineering offers a career to women as well as men, says Dean E. A. Holbrook of the University of Pittsburgh school of engineering.

"For at least 40 years there have been a few women students at the largest engineering schools in the east," Dean Holbrook points out. "They have competed successfully and without embarrassment in at least civil, architectural, mechanical, aeronautical, electrical, chemical, general and industrial engineering."

The only limitation to women's studying engineering, Dean Holbrook says, is "their own inclinations."

Bottle Goes Places Before It's Heard From

HARBOR SPRINGS, Mich. (AP)—Lee Gregory and his sister, Winifred, wish the United States geodetic survey would explain this one to them.

Last June 12, Lee and his sister wrote their names and addresses on some cards and sealed them in three bottles which they tossed into Little Traverse bay.

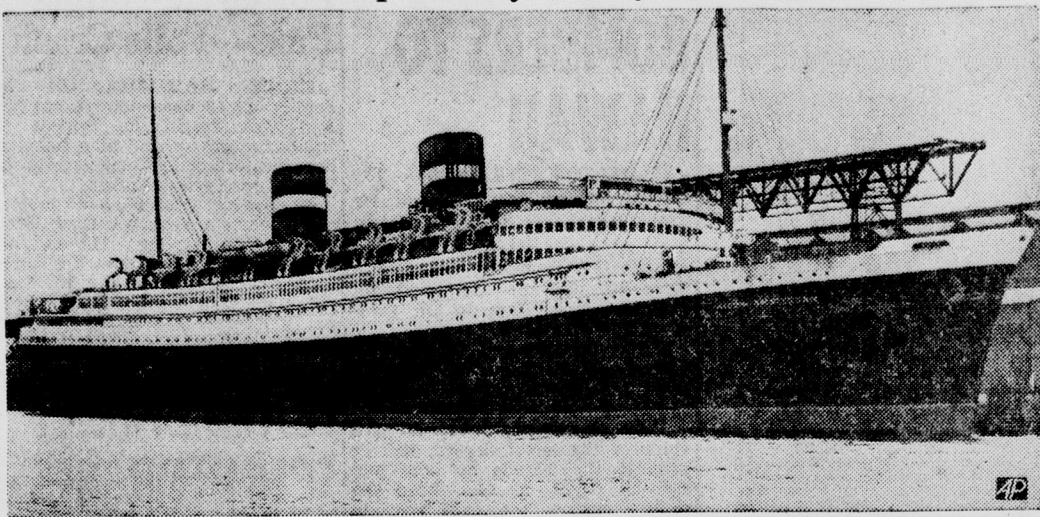

Recently Lee received a letter from John C. Osinich, Hanover, N. H., stating he had found one of the bottles on the banks of the Connecticut river near Hanover.

Lee would like to know how the bottle crossed the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence river, the Atlantic coast and Long Island sound—if it really did.

Acquitted for Confessed Crime

VIENNA. (American Wire)—A crime he committed in 1915 will no longer trouble Otto Roman, because, according to the judge who acquitted him, "there was no morality in those days." Roman took two army shirts and a loaf of bread when the garrison captain at Innichen, southern Tyrol, told his Austro-Hungarian army men to retreat and take "whatever you can carry and may need." BIRCH BACK FROM MEET

When Frank Birch, president of Lions International, finished his lunch in Honolulu at noon Friday and sat down to luncheon Saturday in Fresno, four Santa Anas were on hand to greet him.

Attending the midwinter conference of district Lions clubs in Fresno over the week-end were President Frank Harwood, Secretary John Henderson, Glenn Tidball and E. M. Sundquist of the local Lions clubs. Birch was speaker at the Saturday noon session, telling of international aspects of the service club.

Membership of the California-Nevada district, the local delegates were told, totals approximately 7000, with 407 members of new clubs and 265 new members of existing clubs on the records since last year.

Mrs. N. E. West Seriously Ill

Mrs. N. E. West, wife of the Laguna Beach supervisor, was reported seriously ill today in the Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles.

West said a physicians' consultation was scheduled for this afternoon, with an emergency operation tentatively planned to night or tomorrow. Mrs. West was stricken Saturday night.

man here, was arrested recently for the theft when he went skiing in Tyrol.

Humidity Drops; Barometer Soars

If you, too, have that feeling as if you'd eaten sawdust, there's a reason for it, Tom Hudspeth, junior college weather observer, said today.

People generally aren't interested in relative humidity and similar involved processes of nature, but Hudspeth pointed out today a dry desert wind has brought the humidity down to the lowest point in his memory.

It's impossible to record zero for relative humidity, but the recording gadget came as close as mechanically possible this morning, he said.

To top off Hudspeth's bewilderment and other folks' discomfort, the barometer hit a high peak of 30.47. That, said the observer, is high even for a barometer.

Baby, 3 Days Old, Survives Operation

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Speaking of operations, Jerry Lee Wiley, 10 days old today, was recovering from appendectomy performed when he was only three days old.

The operation, believed by doctors here to be the earliest surgical removal of an appendix on record, was performed on the infant by Dr. W. H. Euseman last Monday while Portland newspapers were closed by a printers' strike.

The patient was apparently well on the road to recovery and had been taking nourishment for three days when the case was made public Sunday for the first time.

Storms Peril Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Widespread property damage appeared imminent in south and central Arkansas today as torrential rains swelled rivers, bayous and creeks.

Today's forecast of thunderstorms held out little hope for relief.

The principal threat was the raging Ouachita, four feet over its flood stage of 26 feet and with a crest of 40 feet predicted by tomorrow night or Wednesday. Thousands of cattle were in the threatened lowlands.

DEAN-D'MAGGIO KIDNAPING PLOT REVEALED

Vosmik Anxious to Join Red Sox

To get that old feeling, Joe Vosmik, new Boston Red Sox outfielder, swings hunting gun with a baseball bat "follow-through." Joe, who's hunting this winter near Cleveland, hit .325 last year with the St. Louis Browns, and figures on pushing his average up under the Red Sox banner.

SPORTS Copy Wroughted

ODDS AND ENDS

By PAUL WRIGHT

Portland's Beavers, who will do their spring training at Fullerton, are looking forward to a banner season in the Pacific Coast league despite the loss of four regulars—Pitcher Bill Posedel, a 20-game winner who goes to Brooklyn; Outfielder Moose Clabaugh, a 325 hitter who has retired to join the state police; Anthony Bongy, who was lost in the draft to Cincinnati; and second-baseman Pete Coscarart, sold to Brooklyn.

The drawings of Tom (Pap) Paprocki, one of the nation's top-ranking sports cartoonists, will appear again in The Journal soon. Pap has been drawing a daily Associated Press sports panel since 1930. For two years he's written a column to accompany his cartoon. Football is his favorite sport for action, but he prefers boxing, swimming and horses for the opportunities to depict anatomy.

Judging from his work already introduced to Orange county readers, Pap is an expert artist in every branch of sport, but he likes to draw horses best. "To most people horses look alike," he explains, "to me a thoroughbred has more expression in his face than the average athlete."

Do you know that ping-pong, or table tennis, originated in the 1880's, and that at first cigar boxes were used for bats, champagne corks for balls, and rows of books for nets? The game was considered a "fad," and was laughed to death. . . . Today ping-pong is one of the leading indoor games. Some of the world's best tennis players, including Fred Perry, Helen Wills Moody, Betty Nuthall and Bunny Austin, are outstanding ping-pong players, too.

Week-End Sports In Brief

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — University of Mississippi selects Harry Mehre, for 10 years head football coach at Georgia, as head coach and athletic director, replacing Ed Walker.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — Spike Nelson, Louisiana State line coach, is named head football coach at Mississippi State college.

BOULDER, Colo. — Bunny Oakes signs new five-year contract, calling for salary increase, as head football coach at Colorado university.

PASADENA. — Jimmy Thomson takes lead in $3000 Pasadena open golf with 64 for 54-hole total of 206 as Henry Picard's 71 drops him to second with 207; Byron Nelson also cards 64 in third round and takes third place with 208.

SARASOTA, Fla. — Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder, wins annual ball players' golf tourney by defeating Jack Russell, Boston Red Sox pitcher, 6 and 5.

GREENEVILLE, Tenn. — Monty Stratton, Chicago White Sox pitcher, joins holdout ranks, asking $12,500 and bonus for 1938.

THOMSON HAS ONE-STROKE LEAD IN OPEN

PASADENA. (AP)—Winding up the 1938 invasion of Southern California links, the traveling professional golfers teed off in the final 18 holes of the $3000 Pasadena Open golf tournament today.

Leading the procession as play started today was Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-the-Delaware—the same Jimmy Thomson who two weeks ago paced the pack into the finale of the rich Los Angeles Open and proceeded to win it.

Thomson led the par busters in yesterday's third round with a 64, seven under par, to take a one stroke advantage over Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., who lost control of the play with a 71. Thomson's 54-hole total was 69-73-64—206.

Two shots back of the leader was Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., formerly of Texarkana, Tex., who duplicated Thomson's amazing 64 yesterday to pull into the front ranks. Breaking par 71 was something 17 others did that day, but doing it by seven strokes was something no one had ever done before over the local Brookside course.

Dick Metz of Lake Forest, Ill., shot a 63 in the Hollywood, Fla., Open last year for the lowest score of this type of competition in modern times. Metz, incidentally, had a 75 yesterday and was far down the list at 215 when play began today.

Three players started four strokes back of Thomson today—Olin Dutra, Los Angeles; Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill.; and Al Zimmerman, Portland, Ore.

In the Los Angeles Open, junior event on the California winter circuit, Thomson held a three-stroke lead going into the final round, with Revolta nearest. Picard was four strokes back and couldn't catch Thomson.

Jimmy Hines of Garden City, N. Y., Eric Seavall of Glendale, Benny Hogan of Port Worth, Harry Hooper, and Jack Groat, Hershey, Pa., listed among the top contenders yesterday, fell back in the Sabbath day round and seemed out of the running.

The winner tonight receives $700.

Seabiscuit, Pompoon May Race Saturday

'CAP ENTRIES SLATED FOR TUNE-UP RUN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Pompoon, Seabiscuit, Aneroid and Time Supply—four stars to conjure with in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap—were expected to be among the entrants announced today for a tune up race, the San Pasqual handicap, Saturday.

The field will be weighted Wednesday and Owner Charles S. Howard is due to make his decision then on Seabiscuit's starting. Howard has said Seabiscuit will run with anything up to 130 pounds, his impost in the Santa Anita handicap.

Top Row, former winner of the $100,000 pot, placed fourth Saturday in his first race since April, 1936. Woodberry won.

Minulus took the $5000 Santa Susana stakes for three-year-old fillies, rewarding pari-mutuel backers with $25.40, $10.20 and $7 across the board.

Winter-book odds on Seabiscuit, the handicap champion of 1937, have dropped to 4 to 1 and Pompoon has been shaved from 10 to 6 to 1 for the Santa Anita handicap.

MISSISSIPPI HIRES MEHRE

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP)—Harry Mehre, who resigned last month as head coach of the University of Georgia after a 10-year tenure, today was the new head coach and athletic director at the University of Mississippi.

Prof. T. A. Bickerstaff, chairman of the athletic committee, announced last night that Mehre had signed a three-year contract, ending a five-week search for a successor to Ed Walker. Salary terms were not disclosed.

A coach on Notre Dame eleven from 1920 to 1922, the new Rebel leader became line coach at Georgia in 1924 and in 1928 took over the head football coaching job.

The Bulldogs under Mehre beat Yale five successive times and were unusually successful in inter-sectional competition, especially against eastern teams.

The "Nick Lutze" of the light-heavyweight wrestling—Louisiana Ernie Piluso of New Orleans—makes his first appearance on an Orange County Athletic club wrestling program Thursday night along with the return appearance of Clara Mortensen, famed girl champion.

Piluso opens the show in a one-minute bout, minutely set, with Belcastro, the former Pacific coast junior heavyweight champion.

Like the women's match, which features Miss Mortensen against Rita Martinez, the Piluso-Belcastro bout is to a finish.

Still boasting that he is undefeated and asserting his match with "Wild Red" Berry didn't end officially, the Black Dragon, masked grappler, swings back into the spotlight in a three fall to a finish bout with Speedy LaRance, the powerful French-Canadian.

Roman Felipe Romano, Mexican junior heavyweight champion, gunged for a bout with either Perry or the Dragon, faces Al Wescott, the bad man from Honolulu in another three fall to a finish affair.

Rugby, Basketball Games Slated For Don Athletes

Basketball and rugby are on Santa Ana Jaycee's sports calendar this week.

Blanchard Beatty's Don cagers travel to San Bernardino Thursday night for a third game in the Eastern conference, after losing to Fullerton 38-22 and to Chaffey 48-39 in their first two starts.

Ernest Butterworth's Jaycee rugger, who made an auspicious start in a scoreless tie with the powerful U. C. L. A. varsity last week, will battle Santa Barbara State in their second game at the Municipal bowl Friday night.

California Open May Be Resumed

DEL MONTE. (AP)—The California Golf association will hold a meeting within three weeks to decide whether to resume the California Open golf championship, Norman MacBeth, Los Angeles, new president of the association, said today.

Representatives of the association ended their annual meeting over the week-end and left for their homes without a decision on the tournament. It was cancelled last year when a group of Southern California professionals called the purse too small, and declined to play.

The association decided to stage the annual California amateur championship at Del Monte Aug. 22-28.

CH. PILICO RUMPELSTILSKIN—BEST DOG IN THE U. S. A.

NEW YORK. (AP)—It is only natural, and pardonable, for you to guess this is a disguised wrestler, hidden behind a fuzzy black beard.

But you're wrong. It is Ch. Pilico Rumpelstiltskin, C.D. We'll agree the name isn't much of a clue. So brace yourself—it's a dog. In fact, the American Kennel club says he is the best dog in America. It's a custom for the A. K. C. to name the year's best dog and this time it is.

Ch. Pilico Rumpelstiltskin, C.D., is a poodle. He looks like an agitated miff. He is two and a half years old. Even aristocrats have nicknames, and to his intimates, Ch. Pilico Rumpelstiltskin, C.D., is just plain Curley.

His owner, Mrs. Milton Erlanger of Elberon, N. J., says: "He's a standout." Charles T. Ingles, of the A. K. C., says: "He's wonderful. He has won non-sporting groups at 20 shows."

The C.D. is a sort of degree given dogs that have passed certain obedience tests. You'll have to guess where the Pilico Rumpelstiltskin comes from. It isn't very clear at this end.

Riggs said he and Wayne Sabin, alternate on last year's American cup team, who paired with Riggs in the Dixie tournament doubles, would be able to hold their own against Budge and Gene Mako, cup doubles team last year. He hinted he thought Sabin had a chance to be Budge's partner.

The elimination of Grant in the semi-finals prevented Riggs from seeking revenge over the Atlanta boy who beat him in the finals of the Biltmore tournament at Miami recently.

"But I don't know whether or not I'll lick him the next time we meet," Riggs said. "Bitty probably will be more determined than ever when we play again, and goodness, he's tough enough already."

Paul Waner of Pirates Wins Baseball Golf

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Paul Waner, Pittsburgh outfielder, is baseball's champion golfer.

The elder of the Waner brothers defeated Jack Russell, former American league pitcher, 6 and 5, to win the annual baseball players' golf tournament here yesterday.

Established as the pre-tourney favorite in the players' auction, Waner played a consistent par game in the 36-hole final. Five up on Russell at the end of the morning round, the Pirate left-hander added another hole on the final 18 to terminate the match on the 31st green.

Joe Medwick, National league batting champion and St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, gave the one and only Jerome Herman Dean a neat demonstration of his golfing prowess in annexing second flight laurels. Medwick not only walked his teammate, 6 and 5, but rifled a shot 277 yards down the fairway to cop the driving contest.

Jo White of Detroit took third flight honors, turning back Heinie Manush, Brooklyn veteran, one up.

In consolation play, Gerald Walker of Detroit trounced Garland Braxton of Indianapolis, 2 and 1; Paul Derringer of Cincinnati trimmed John Cooney of the Cardinals, 2 and 1; and Butch Heinie, unattached, won by default.

For Dean the tournament proved an expensive affair. Checking up, the Cardinal pitcher said he lost a total of $150 in bets. Failure to qualify for the first flight, "Old Diz" said, cost him $1000 wagered against $20,000 with an undiscovered person.

LEHMAN AMONG RACE LEADERS

WILMINGTON. (AP)—Seven "half-pint" skippers held class leadership today in the Sunbelt regatta at Los Angeles inner harbor.

Willis Hunt led 15 contenders in the featured 1-c Dinghy division with 108½ points. John Wells was second with 98½. Leaders in other classes, at the end of eight races, were: Myron Lehman, Balboa, A-dinghy. Robert Perry, Long Beach, skimmer. Bill Douglas, Santa Monica, national B-dinghy. George Dines, Long Beach, rainbow-skimmerette. Dr. William Rambo, Los Angeles, flag-jack. David Rely, Long Beach, leeboard.

Texas Polo Team Beaten on Coast

SANTA BARBARA. (AP)—A Texas polo team, powered mainly by Rube Williams, nursed a 14-4 defeat today by a Santa Barbara foursome.

The Santa Barbarans piled up an early lead, as big George Oliver scored four of his seven goals in one chukker. Williams, who made one goal for the Texas team, starred on defense in his No. 4 position.

BOBBY RIGGS 'SURE' DAVIS CUP PLAYER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Bobby Riggs, young Chicago tennis player who ranks second in the United States for 1937, figures he is virtually sure to be a member of the team which defends the Davis cup in this country next summer.

Riggs captured the Dixie tennis championship yesterday with a straight-set victory over Wayne Sabin of Los Angeles, conqueror of Bryan (Bitty) Grant of Atlanta in the semi-finals, and immediately began planning for the cup try-outs.

"They can hardly leave me off this time," Bobby said. "I don't know whether or not I'll play, but I'm sure to be a member of the team."

Riggs thinks the singles will be played by Budge and either he or Grant. The Chicagoan didn't hesitate to say that he had a tough battle ahead of him with the Atlanta star for the other singles position.

Riggs said he and Wayne Sabin, alternate on last year's American cup team, who paired with Riggs in the Dixie tournament doubles, would be able to hold their own against Budge and Gene Mako, cup doubles team last year. He hinted he thought Sabin had a chance to be Budge's partner.

Y.M.C.A. FIVES CLASH TONIGHT

Tonight's fourth-round double-header in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league sends M. E. South against Patterson's Dairy at 7:15, and Excelsior Creamery against the Church of the Brethren at 8:30.

Wednesday's card pairs Irvine and Montgomery Ward's, Southern Counties Gas company and Penhalls of Westminster, and Barr Lumber company and Al's Lock and Key shop.

Thursday's bill: Wilson's Dairy vs. Treesweet Products; Santa Ana Woolen Mills and Costa Mesa (county league game).

U. S. Eliminated In Table Tennis

LONDON. (AP)—A United States women's team, defending the Corbillion cup it won a year ago, was eliminated from the world's table tennis championship today when it lost a first-round match to Hungary, 1 to 3.

The United States men's team, holder of the Swathing cup, advanced to the second round by defeating Germany, 5 to 2.

ROSS SLAYER PLANNED TO ABDUCT STARS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Justice department officials said today that John Henry Seadlund, confessed kidnap-slayer of Charles S. Ross, had contemplated kidnapping two major league baseball players.

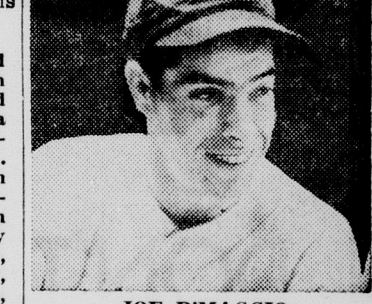

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, telephoned that information to the justice department this morning. Hoover said Seadlund, now in custody at Chicago, had told federal agents that before kidnapping and killing Ross, and killing his accomplice, James A. Gray, he had talked with Gray about kidnapping "Dizzy" Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals for $50,000 ransom.

Seadlund eventually decided, Hoover said, that the St. Louis club might be unwilling to pay that large a sum for Dean's return.

The bureau chief also related that Seadlund and Gray later debated the possibility of kidnapping a member of the New York Yankees team and holding him at Spooner, Wis., pending payment of a $50,000, but finally abandoned that, too.

DI MAGGIO SURPRISED

NEW YORK. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, star outfielder for the New York Yankees, said today he was as surprised as the rest of the baseball world to hear he had been marked for kidnapping, along with "Dizzy" Dean, Cardinal pitcher, by the abductors of Charles S. Ross, wealthy Chicagoan.

"Last night's radio report was the first I ever heard of it," the highly paid Joe commented sleepily on being routed out of bed this morning. "And I never had a guard."

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, sat silent in an NBC studio last night as Walter Winchell, radio commentator, made the following announcement:

"John Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men, stated tonight that Peter Anders (Seahunter), the kidnap-murderer of Charles S. Ross of Chicago, had made plans with his late confederate Atwood Gray, to kidnap Dizzy Dean, the famous St. Louis pitcher.

"That plan was abandoned, however. They also discussed snatching Joe DiMaggio."

Hoover, immediately besieged by news men, declined to see them. An NBC official took in word they wanted comment, and returned quoting Hoover as follows: "No comment whatsoever. What Mr. Winchell said was correct."

Today Hoover and his local aides continued silent. The telephone at Hoover's hotel suite went unanswered.

SAINTS TRAVEL TO SAN BERDOO

CITRUS BELT LEAGUE

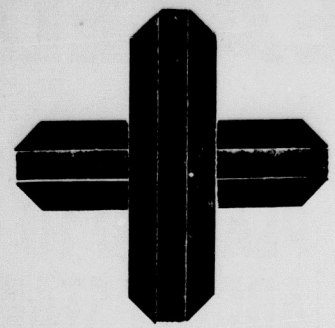

San Bernardino's Cardinals, who are holding down the Citrus belt league cellar with Coach Joe Koegler's Saints, will furnish the next basketball opposition for Santa Ana High school's varsity—at San Bernardino—Friday.

Redlands and Chaffey are deadlocked for the lead after four games.

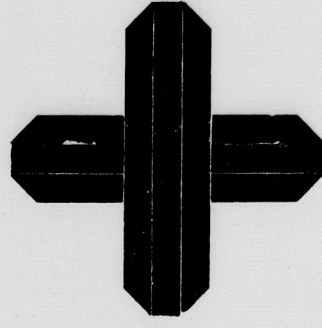

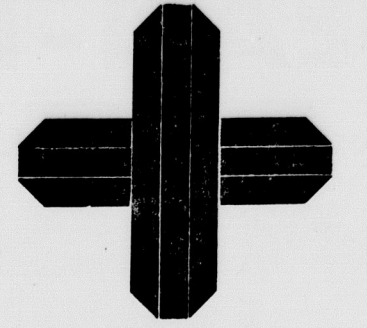

Koegler will groom a Santa Ana lineup of Gene O'Campo and Pete Partida, forwards; Dick Brown, center; Maurice Young and Marvin Webb, guards, with Larry Tway as No. 1 alternate.

Expert Shooter

Straight-shooter, Mrs. Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., averaged more than 97 out of 100 hits every time she fired at a clay target in the 16-year line in 1937. Her average was .9766.

MARKS THE SPOT

LOST THEIR LIVES IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS
LAST YEAR

THE COST IS TOO HIGH

More persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents in our country last year than ever before—36,400 lost their lives. More than 12,500,000 others were injured.

One out of every 100 Americans, this means, was injured. And at the same rate, one out every 20 who are alive today will either be killed or injured in an automobile accident within five years.

What a price to pay for carelessness, thoughtlessness and indifference!

Yet the future is brighter than cold figures seem to indicate. More and more states are passing effective drivers' license laws. More cities and towns are beginning to organize their police and court facilities to battle with accident causes. More citizen groups and private individuals are awake to the fact that traffic accidents vitally concern them and the lives of their families.

Traffic accidents can be controlled. Individual cities and towns are making enviable records in accident reduction. And every driver can help in bringing this annual toll of human waste and human misery down.

MAKE ORANGE COUNTY SAFE—DO YOUR PART!

DON'T APPLY YOUR BRAKES

WHEN A TIRE BLOWS OUT—If a tire bursts, do not apply the brakes nor throw out the clutch, until the car has lost almost all its momentum. In the case of a blowout of a rear tire, a sudden application of the brakes at high speed may cause the car to turn over.

WHEN RIGHT WHEELS STRIKE A SOFT SHOULDER—The driver should hold the steering wheel tightly, remove his feet from the accelerator and allow the engine to reduce the speed of the car before he applies the brake.

PERSONS KILLED BY AGE GROUPS—1936

	Ages 0-4	Per cent	Ages 5-14	Per cent	Ages 15-64	Per cent	Ages 65-over	Per cent
Pedestrian	970	69.3	2,550	63.6	9,020	34.5	3,620	69.2
Automobile	220	15.7	460	11.5	7,460	28.5	840	16.0
Horse Drawn Veh.					50	.2	20	.4
Railroad Train	40	2.9	130	3.2	1,480	5.6	120	2.3
Street Car			10	.3	300	1.1	20	.4
Other Vehicles			30	.8	260	1.0
Fixed Object	30	2.1	150	3.7	3,530	13.5	260	5.0
Bicycle	10	.7	390	9.7	330	1.3	40	.8
Miscellaneous	130	9.3	290	7.2	3,730	14.3	310	5.9
Total	1,400	100.0	4,010	100.0	26,160	100.0	5,230	100.0

There is a severe indictment of reckless driving to be found in the figures in the above chart—a charge of apathy if not gross negligence.

Little children cannot be held accountable for their actions; cannot be expected to take care of themselves in traffic. Drivers must THINK for them and protect them. Elderly people are at an equal disadvantage. The mind may be clear but footsteps falter. Drivers must look out for them too.

A note of warning must be sounded to bicycle riders for in the age group 5 to 14, both deaths and injuries in bicycle-auto collisions rose alarmingly. In fact fatalities nearly doubled. Parents, teachers and drivers should take heed.

How To Meet Driving EMERGENCIES

WHEN GOING TOO FAST AROUND A CURVE—Every time a curve is rushed centrifugal force acts to push the car off the road. When the driver realizes he is going too fast, his first thought is to apply the brakes. This is dangerous and makes the car more difficult to control.

WHEN YOUR CAR SKIDS—(a) Don't put your foot on the brakes. (b) Don't throw out your clutch. (c) Take your foot off the gas. (d) To pull out of a skid, turn the steering wheel in the same direction that the rear of the car is skidding.

PLAYERS IN REHEARSAL FOR SHOW

One month of rehearsals remain before the Santa Ana Community Players present their last major production of the season, "The Late Christopher Bean." Production dates are Feb. 25 and 26.

Mrs. Gladys Simpson Shafer is directing a cast including Leslie Steffensen as De Haggert, Gertrude Horn as Abby, Helen Johnson as Mrs. Haggert, Betty Jo Willis as Susan Haggert, Crawford Nalle as Warren Creamer, Florence Nalle as Ada Haggert, Arthur Chapman as Tallant, Wyllie Carlyle as Rosen and John Colwell as Davenport.

Scenes from the play were recorded by members of the Orange County Camera club following the regular Barn meeting last week. Members of the club who assisted in snapping the scenes were Milan Miller, Burr Shafer, O. F. Smith, Billie Jenifer, Spurgeon Sparks, Tommy Enomoto, Felton Browning and Wilbur Knipe. Santa Ana; Gordon Ethington, Huntington Beach; Walter Lehnhardt, Garden Grove; Northrup Ellis, Anaheim; Ted Cook and Harlan Kittle, Laguna Beach.

NURSES MEET AT ST. JOSEPHS

Problems of school and public health nursing featured last week's meeting of the California State Nurses association, district 16, held in St. Joseph's hospital.

Miss Edith Pithie, Santa Ana school nurse, and Miss Isabel Duran, superintendent of public health nurses in Orange county, were speakers.

Those present included Mesdames Maria Greener, Mabel Balch, Hazel Paul, Thelma Turpin, Greba Dale, Mabel Grouard, Martha Peltier, Alice Theal, Misses Floretta Harman, Laura Hansen, Lydia Newman, Theresa Haughe, Euth Pithie, Margaret Kuehl, Idabel Duran, E. COLLEGE BANDS PLAN CONCERT

Arrangements have been completed for the all-state intercollegiate symphonic band concert at Pomona college Feb. 5, it was announced today.

Musicians representing schools and colleges from all parts of California will take part in the concert. More than 100 will be included in the gigantic orchestra. The event will be held in Bridges auditorium, Claremont.

Oldest Employee Has Birthday

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—John Michael Horan, who claims to be the oldest active railroad employee in the United States, embarked on his second century of life today.

He cut into a huge birthday cake, topped with 100 candles, yesterday, turned to his 70-year-old son, William, and said: "Remember the old saw, the first 100 years are always the hardest."

Horan has been an employee of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad for 83 years. He was feted by road officials at a dining car banquet in the company's yards Saturday. His son is an engineer for the same railroad.

THEFT CHARGED

Grand theft charges landed Arthur V. Sullivan, 40, 402 West Wilshire street, Fullerton, in county jail in lieu of $2500 bond Saturday. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Earley in Brea Saturday.

I Just Found Out
Auto Graveyards—By—
MILLARD BROWNE

Some 6000 automobiles each are purchased by a dozen men in and around Santa Ana. Average value of these cars at one time may have been $1000, but when their largest purchasers get through, they won't average $20 each.

They'll be reduced to scrap metal, glass, rubber and a few spare parts that may or may not be resold to middle-class car owners. Converting of cars that no longer run into "salvage and parts" items is done at less than a dozen junk yards that fringe Santa Ana's outskirts.

Junk dealers are among the few who capitalize on auto wrecks, make no bones about the fact. Because some smashups will incapacitate autos to such extent that it's cheaper to sell them for junk than to fix them up.

An old car's worth just as much in junk as a new one—maybe more. The reason: New cars that have been wrecked are good only for salvage, old ones frequently produce parts which can be resold, because new car owners who need replacements for something that "went bust" invariably get new parts. It's only owners of "jillies" that shop at the junk-yards for old batteries, generators, and whatnot.

Wrecking yards spring up like mushrooms, mostly because the work looks like it should be principally profit. It may have been once, but now competition is so keen one yard will go out of business as fast as another one starts.

Haggling, dickering and bargain-driving are essential to the junk business, since there can be no regular price range. Each old car purchased is in a different state of disrepair, each second-hand part sold varies in value depending on age, condition and original quality.

Only one group of prices are kept fairly constant for the junk dealer: Price he gets for his scrap metal. It's bought by scrap metal concerns at so much a ton, fluctuates slowly according to supply and demand and economic conditions.

Best salvage item: High-speed ballast, found in main bearings and a few other places, which brings 22 cents a pound ($440 a ton). Ordinary scrap iron (body tin) sells for $6.25 a ton delivered to the harbor at Wilmington.

Biggest current purchaser of scrap iron from Santa Ana junkers is Eastern Iron & Metal company, which ships a big percentage to Japan for munitions. (Next time you see a war newsreel, you might look for the fender you lost in a wreck last spring). Before "body tin" is exported it's pressed into 18-inch cubes weighing 240 pounds each.

If no parts are in condition to be resold, the average small car will bring from $7 to $10. That's all profit—except for the estimated $3 it costs to run it through the yard to be "wrecked down," and whatever the junk dealer paid for the car in the first place.

Biggest headache to junkers is the problem of knowing how long to keep which parts or when to wreck the car. Certain parts sell frequently, others never do, and the dealer has to use his own judgment whether to keep parts on hand or sell them in for salvage. Too many wrong guesses have browned many dealers, because the average one can't survive on his salvage items alone.

Here's an average day's purchases as reported by one dealer: Three old cars bought for $14, $11 and $10 respectively. Tires and batteries of all three autos will be saved, the rest torn up, sold as salvage.

Most junk cars are bought from garagement and used car

"SHOCKING"

PHILADELPHIA.—Convicts at Eastern penitentiary think Warden Herbert Smith is adding insult to injury.

Under the supervision of experts, the prisoners—at Smith's order—are constructing new electrically-controlled doors to lock them tighter in the century-old prison.

ALL NOT GOLD

SNYDER, Tex.—The Rev. O. D. Dial and Garland Fambro, excavating for a house, discovered a lead bucket containing more than 100 $1 coins.

Bank officials blasted their vision of sudden wealth. They said the coins were counterfeit.

DOGGY

MILWAUKEE.—Rajah, a 5-year-old registered Great Dane, really "put on the dog" while out for a stroll.

He saw a parked taxicab with a rear door open, and promptly jumped in. His master, Assistant District Attorney Andrew Brunhart, sought in vain to entice him out.

Upon the advice of a policeman, the cab driver drove the "passenger" to his home. There Rajah stepped majestically from the cab—while his master paid the 50-cent fare.

THUMBING HIS WAY

DES MOINES, Ia.—A hitchhiking grasshopper paused here in its search for a milder climate.

A bus driver found the "hopper," almost dead from the cold, perched atop a bus which had just arrived from Minneapolis.

Admiring the grasshopper's spunk, the driver let it warm overnight in the bus depot and then placed it on the bumper of a southbound bus.

lots. Garages, who tow most wrecked cars in from the scene of the collision, have the whip-hand, usually call for bids when cars are ready for junking. Used car lots collect junk when unusable autos are traded in on a used car that will run.

Junkers occasionally resell cars they bought from one used car dealer to another. That usually is when they buy from a dealer who guarantees his autos don't get junked. They could afford to guarantee the junked one, then sell to another used car dealer who doesn't make guarantees. Most junk men, though, stick to the wrecking business, figure if they wanted junk had enough to buy it they might as well keep it for parts and salvage.

As protection against auto thieves using them as "fences," junk dealers are required to report all purchases to the local police, and they must turn in pink slips on all autos they buy.

Junk yards all are equipped with tow-cars, and they occasionally use them to bring badly-wrecked autos directly from the spot they were smashed into the junk yard. In that way, owners who are sure the car isn't worth fixing save towing expense.

Junkers thrive on minor auto wrecks as well as major ones. Just as the serious collisions let them get good cars cheap, minor ones give them a market for sale of parts to motorists who then need new headlights, fenders or motor replacements.

Low-paid workmen are best customers of local junk yards, while thrifty Japanese tend to be best hagglers. They frequently will go from one yard to another looking for something they might be able to use.

High school kids or unemployed men occasionally will nose through junk-yards, try and pick up enough parts to build an entire car. Dealers have found it doesn't pay in the long-run, that buying cars that way will cost more than a good ready-made second-hand one.

During depression, junk yards were used as pawnshops. People down to their bottom dollars frequently came in and sold the furniture, and they're all there at Los Angeles premiere of "In Old Chicago."

STATE GAS TAX INCOME INCREASES

California motorists and owners of commercial vehicles paid 6.51 per cent more into gasoline taxes in 1937 than during the previous year of 1936, it was made known today by the State Board of Equalization.

Assessments for 1937 ran to $51,584,003.69, the first time in the history of the state the annual income from this source has exceeded $50,000,000.

Board records show that the assessments of last December were $4,329,119.19, a gain of 4.71 per cent over the same month of the previous year. Tax for the month was assessed against a sale of 144,303,973 gallons of gasoline.

"It would seem from these figures California has achieved a substantial economic balance," said Richard E. Collins, chairman of the State Board of Equalization. "It is understood generally that gasoline sales may be taken as a fairly accurate barometer of economic conditions. In view of this, last year's gasoline tax assessment would indicate a healthy condition throughout the state."

CLASS TO HEAR BOOK REVIEWS

Two new books, Max Miller's "Mexico Around Me" and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's "My Life Story," will be reviewed tonight before the class in New Books and Their Makers under the adult education department.

Reviewers will be Mrs. Mildred Fuller and Mrs. Genevieve Lacy. The class meets in room 116 of the Willard Junior High school, at 7 p. m. On Jan. 31 Muriel White, class instructor, will review Sally Salminen's "Katinka." Leading articles in current magazines also will be discussed.

Two Women See Double Hanging

FORT MADISON, Iowa. (AP)—The second double hanging in the history of Iowa took place today. Those executed were John Mercer, 29, convicted of the murder of Robert Sprout, of Tipton, Iowa, while fleeing from a holdup, and Allen Wheaton, 21, convicted of murdering Henry Plummer, a Council Bluffs, Iowa, robbery victim.

Two women witnesses were Mrs. Joe Perry, wife of the sheriff of Pottawattami county who sprang the trap beneath Wheaton's feet, and Mrs. Leo P. Woolworth, wife of a Fort Dodge official.

Mass to Honor Loyola Friend

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Requiem mass will be celebrated tomorrow for Michael F. O'Dea, 87, who gave $100,000 ten years ago to Loyola university of Los Angeles.

The philanthropist, born in Toronto, Can., was reared in Syracuse, N. Y., and won admittance to the New York state bar before coming to California in 1884.

His purchase of a large tract of land just outside the "village" limits of Los Angeles multiplied in value as it became the center of the business district in a few years.

Actor Interviewed By Newscaster

Bert Wheeler, baby-faced member of the motion picture team of Wheeler and Woolsey, was a special Journal guest Saturday afternoon.

Wheeler, appearing on the stage here, was interviewed on The Journal's KVOE news broadcast at 4:30 p. m. by Tom Danson, newscaster.

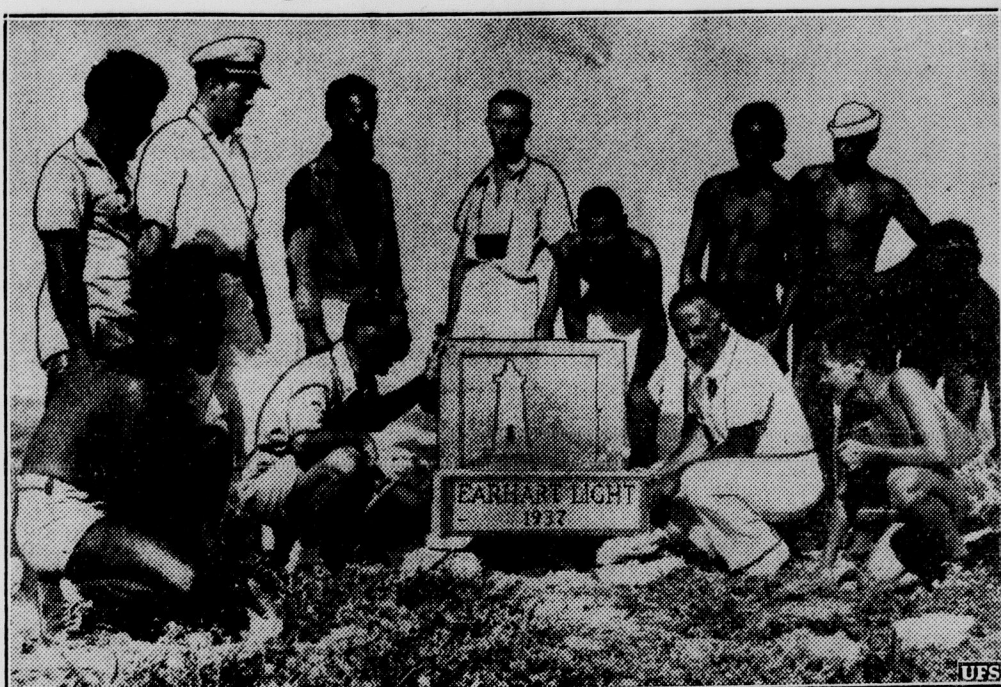

MAN MISSING

Disappearance of Clarence Allee, 35, from a Pico trailer camp was reported Saturday. He had headed for Artesia, Los Alamitos and Cypress to sell some home-made wicker baskets, his wife told officers. She became worried when he failed to return Saturday night.

four people each day visit junk yards to pawn spare tires.

Essential equipment for a junk yard: Tow-car, crane, acetylene torch, sledge-hammer and lots of room to store parts. Cars are wrecked by pulling tires, parts and glass out, then tearing the body off the chassis with a sledge-hammer. It's thrown on a big fire to burn away the unsalvageable wood. "Wrecking down" a car takes one man the better part of a day, though two local plants each handle about 1500 a year.

Director Ernest Gruening, of the federal interior department's division of territories and island possessions, is presiding. The light will be 20 ft. high.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

Don't forget to lay your plans to attend the big Townsend meeting arranged by Santa Ana Clubs Nos. 6 and 8 for 7 o'clock tomorrow evening in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. A special array of talent has been arranged for including the Hurd-Lentz orchestra which will start the affair off with one of their stepping kind of concerts beginning at 7 p. m. At 7:30 the regular Townsend meeting will be called to order. G. Willard Bassett, noted tenor soloist of our city who is leaving the first of the month to become the soloist of the Temple Baptist church in Los Angeles will be a feature of the program. The speaker will be V. R. Cogswell, San Bernardino Sun advertising manager who has made himself popular with Townsend audiences because of his informative lectures already delivered. A. M. Mapes, president of Club No. 6 will come from Cathedral City, desert, to share with us.

Dr. T. M. Savage from Los Angeles is presiding in charge, with share honors with J. H. Nicholson, president of Club No. 8 in presiding tomorrow night. If you miss hearing the talent on tomorrow night's program you will be missing something worth while. Meeting in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street at 7:30 tonight for a regular business meeting with Pope R. Long, president in the chair.

Orange Club No. 1 which has been meeting on Monday evening will hereafter meet on Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, beginning tomorrow night. This club meets in the Townsend club building at 149 South Glassell street with W. H. Larson, president in charge.

Dr. T. M. Savage from Los Angeles has been secured to address the Fullerton Club No. 1 at its meeting being held at 7:30 tonight in the Ebell club building located at East Chapman and Harvard avenues. Ota A. Everett is the entertaining president of this club. She constantly strives to make her club's meetings interesting. Those in Fullerton who fail to hear Dr. Savage in his message on money, tax methods and so forth that now prevail in America will be sorry afterwards, as he has a really worthwhile speech to deliver. The writer heard Dr. Savage lecture on this subject in Los Angeles and he knows he will please you as well as inform you.

A telephone message from John W. Sauers has been received to the effect that the Tustin club will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Townsend club building at C and West Main streets for a business meeting with D. L. Thomas, president in the chair. Last Monday night this club served a chicken dinner which was patronized by 125 business men and other Tustin citizens. A week from tonight Rev. Joe Nation of Long Beach will speak to the Tustin club.

E. M. Sutton of La Habra club is laying down on the job again by not sending in his reports of his club's meeting. All the writer knows is that this club meets tonight in the Masonic hall on Central avenue.

Costa Mesa Club No. 3 meets on Tuesday nights in the Townsend club building at 2204 Newport boulevard. Mrs. K. C. Burdick was president last year but she hasn't reported yet who the new officers are which have been elected for 1938. That's bawling you out right, isn't it Mrs. Burdick? Why not write this column every week whether you have anything particular in the way of a meeting or not? Good publicity is a very important thing to the success of any Townsend club and this writer can't do a very good job of helping out clubs with better attendance at their meetings unless he has cooperation from the publicity chairman of each club. This paragraph is not directed at Mrs. Burdick but rather to all Townsend clubs of the county who fail to take advantage of the opportunity afforded them of publicity. Send your notices each week to Walter R. Robb, Santa Ana, lock box 441.

Jacob C. Best, 1324 French street, Santa Ana, who is vice president of Santa Ana club No. 8 and the head of the house committee in charge of Townsend hall, enjoys the distinction of having been a member of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers since July 7, 1896. He proudly carries a gold medal watch charm inscribed in recognition of 25 years service and later was issued a gold card for having finished 40 years of continuous membership.

Three splendid speakers have been booked to appear in Santa Ana Townsend hall this week. The San Bernardino Sun advertising manager, W. R. Cogswell tomorrow night as already referred to. Judge George D. Higgins will speak next Thursday night for Santa Ana club No. 3 and then on Saturday night, Santa Ana club No. 10 will have Judge M. C. Summers in a county wide mass meeting which this club will sponsor.

The writer is asking that all Townsend clubs meeting tonight and later in the week make announcement of these speakers and when they will appear as they will all bring important messages. If you will go hear these speakers and see the crowds in attendance you won't be thinking that the Townsend plan movement is dead.

LOCAL WOMEN GET BEQUEST

When informed this morning they are to receive $3000 cash under terms of a will filed recently in New York, Mrs. Rubie Schlesinger and her daughter, Miss Estelle Schlesinger of 1213 South Van Ness street, registered surprise.

"I didn't expect it," said Mrs. Schlesinger, who first learned the news and then telephoned her daughter. "Neither did I." Miss Schlesinger agreed with her mother, upon learning of their good fortune.

Mrs. Schlesinger and her daughter were niece and grand niece of the late William Prager, New York philanthropist and former real estate operator and partner of the firm of Lowenfeld and Prager, who died at the age of 78, Jan. 7.

Neither Mrs. Schlesinger nor her daughter could say this morning how they would spend the money. Mrs. Schlesinger will receive $2000 and her daughter $1000 under terms of the will.

As yet no date has been set for proving of the document. Mr. Prager was a trustee of the Jewish Theological seminary, a vice president of the Young Men's Hebrew association, a former director of the Hebrew Free Loan society and a member of the True Craftsman's lodge of Masons for 50 years, and also a member of the Jewish center and of the Congregational B'nai Beshurun.

SPEED FINES

An $8 speeding fine was paid by Harry W. Dugdale, Anaheim, in the highest traffic case of Judge J. G. Mitchell's city court docket Saturday. Fred Sloan, Los Angeles, paid another $8 when arrested in Los Angeles on a speeding bench warrant issued out of Mitchell's court.

PROWLER

A prowler was reported in the vicinity of 1712 Spurgeon street both Thursday and Friday nights.

RESOLUTION ASKS HIRING OF CITIZENS

V. F. W. Opens
Employment Drive

No more jobs in Orange county for aliens!

With that slogan Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States enlisted in another fight this week when they unanimously endorsed a resolution urging that residents of the county, and citizens of the United States, be given preference over non-residents and aliens in the current employment drive.

The post also will launch a drive to secure passage of similar resolutions by the Orange county council of the veterans, it was announced.

Opening round in the veterans' fight for peace also was fired Friday night, when the first in a series of nine weekly broadcasts was given over KVOE at 8:15 p. m. Speaker was Mrs. Beasley Clark, president of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, who spoke in support of the VFW program for the preservation of peace and abolition of all except defensive wars.

Tomorrow at the same hour Harry Edwards, secretary of the Orange County Veterans Welfare board, will deliver an address on the operation and activities of that board in its service to disabled veterans.

Members of the Ernest L. Kellogg post and auxiliary were hosts yesterday at a breakfast to members of the third district, VFW, and guests from throughout Southern California.

Following breakfast the post went to Colton, where they assisted in the installation of a post at that city. Wesley Davis of Orange, commander of the third district and of the Orange county council, officiated.

Man Arrested On Fraud Charge

Charged with defrauding an innkeeper, Robert A. Hernandez, 29, Los Angeles, was arrested in that city on a Santa Ana bench warrant Saturday.

He posted $6.50 bail, but told officers he already had paid the bill he was charged with owing Mrs. M. E. Lee, complaining witness. Mrs. Lee was out of town when the arrest was made.

Tangle With Cops Brings 3 Charges

Paul Garcia, 32, 621 Wellington street, today faced charges of drunkenness, assault and resisting an officer after he allegedly struck a policeman as he was being arrested on a drunk count.

RUBBER CHECK

An attempt to pass a fictitious $43.14 check on a Sycamore street grocery store was reported Saturday afternoon. The check was made out to Leo Scoot, signed by a James Larkin and endorsed by Scoot, who gave an address of 414 East Chestnut street.

Reunion Tea Enjoyed By Many

As a gracious courtesy to former students, members of Tama Pl. Santa Ana High school girls' club, entertained yesterday afternoon at a charming formal tea in the home of Miss Jeanette Brown, 922 South Ross street.

All alumnae members of the club were issued invitations to the affair, and were greeted at the door by a receiving line which included the hostess, Miss Brown; Mrs. Allen Titensor (Helene Newbold), who is president of the group this term, and Miss LaDene Laub, who will hold the same position during the coming semester.

Large baskets of spring flowers made a pretty background for the charming formal frocks of the members. Miss Brown was in peach net, Mrs. Titensor in peach chiffon and Miss Laub in yellow net. Mrs. Ray Brown, mother of the hostess, assisted during the afternoon, and wore a hostess gown of black silk.

The tea table was centered with a bowl of pastel ranunculi and tall tapers. Presiding at either end were Mrs. J. Parley Smith, advisor of the club, in blue crepe, and Mrs. Thelma Connolly in black crepe. Attractive corsage arrangements of pastel sweet peas were presented to Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Connolly, Mrs. Brown and the hostess.

An informal program was presented throughout the afternoon hours. Included were a piano solo, "Impromptu" by Schubert, played by Miss Vivian Hazen; two readings, "Father's Chickens" and "Her Friend" by Miss Betty Anne Munson; a solo, "Home," sung by Miss Jeanette Brown, and two whistling solos, "Once in a While" and "Bob White," presented by Mrs. Walter Rimbough (Eloise Bradley).

A special event of the afternoon was the presentation of a handsome waffle set and casserole to the retiring president, Mrs. Titensor.

Alumnae members entertained were Miss Winifred Brown, Miss Mary Jane Belcher, Mrs. Walter Rimbough, Miss Lois Newbold, Miss Aloen Miller, Miss Betty Anne Munson, Miss Janice Marguerat, Miss Ellen Reid, Miss Ruth Curren, Mrs. Merilee Comp, Miss Jean Courtney, Mrs. William Graupenberger, Miss Dorothy Skinner, Miss Margaret Thomas, Miss Virginia Lee Graves, Miss Evelyn Hammett.

Members present to greet their special guests were the Misses Cleo Adrian, LaDene Laub, Betty Vosskuhler, Jacqueline Bradford, Vivian Hazen, Jeanette Brown, Francis Keeton, Mary Jean Towler, Aline Simmons, Sadie Mason, Jean Thwaite and Mrs. Titensor.

SILVER CORD LODGE ENJOYS CARD PARTY

Tables prettily decorated with centerpieces of silver trees with gumdrop flowers formed a pretty setting for the card party of Silver Cord lodge, which was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Eby, a musical program, arranged by Ray Taylor and Victor Soper, included entertainers from the Kit-Kat and two youngsters from Spurgeon school, who played accordion selections.

Twenty tables of bridge were in play during the evening, under the supervision of Mrs. A. A. Hardy. Prizes in contract were won by Mrs. Harry Jackson with high score, and Mrs. Asa Hoffman with second. In auction, Al Jones won high and Mrs. Dorothy Rammell, second. Mrs. Ed Maier won high prize in pinocle.

The ladies played bridge while their husbands were in the lodge room where Leslie Pearson, past master of No. 241, assisted in rites conferred on William Eckles. Plans were made for a dance on Feb. 1.

On the reception committee for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jacob, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allemen, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Nicky, Mr. and Mrs. John Turton and Mr. and Mrs. John Vernon. The committee in charge of the pot-luck arrangements included the Messrs. and Mesdames Paul Eby, M. L. Pearson, Jess Will, Francis Hill, Dean Campbell, Al Brownbridge, Milton Ball, Bob Birkhead, H. M. Brothers, Gray Johnston, Leslie Echols and Walter Egger.

Beige and string tones are imported in midseason fashions and forecast for prominence this spring. Helen Cookman designs a coat of beige monotone wool tweed, belts it in leather and collars it in wolf.

Book Review of the Week

By MOLLY HARVEY
Editor's Note: This is one of a series of weekly book reviews of current publications which will appear each Monday in The Journal.

Review of "The Prodigal Parents" by Sinclair Lewis

Sinclair Lewis was one of my first tin gods. That was at the time when people were quoting from "Main Street" and "Babbitt," and I met with a group of other insufferable high school intellectuals to discuss Life and Literature (with capital L's). Whether maturing years have changed my reactions, or fame and prosperity have lessened the biting truth of Mr. Lewis' writing I do not know. But I have been increasingly disappointed in his later novels and "The Prodigal Parents" seems to be just a little piece he dashed off because he was short of cash.

The saddest part of all is that his new book does present a really challenging problem. In brief it is the revolt of parents against the revolt of youth. Had it been given the careful treatment and the detailed development of plot which characterizes the novels which first made the world sit up and take notice of Sinclair Lewis it could have been a really great book.

It seems to my humble mind (though after all who am I to criticize?) that the author jumps too quickly from one incident to the next, that the background is too sketchy to make the behavior of the leading characters seem logical, and furthermore that the ending does not prove or settle anything.

Fred Cornlow was a successful business man whose efforts had succeeded only in spoiling his two children and giving his wife,

TWO-YEAR-OLD CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Burke joined in celebration of their little son Robert's second birthday anniversary Saturday afternoon by giving him and his young friends an enjoyable party in their Tustin home.

Pink sweets and candy cups on the refreshment table were augmented by grotesque little animal favors made of gumdrops at each place.

Robert's grandmother, Mrs. Fannie Fisher, and his older brother, Joe, assisted the Burkes in serving and amusing the youngsters, who enjoyed both games and moving pictures.

Guests were Bonnie Wells, Carol Anne Lane, Anne Casey, Ardella Eggleston, Patty Suddaby, Betty Kay Shedd, Charlene Casparson, Larry Pierson, Rodney Casparson, Jerry Auger, John Gaylord, Jimmy Cannon, Gary Morse, and Donald Whitley.

DINNER CLUB ENTERTAINED BY RAGANS

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragan were host and hostess at a pleasant dinner party last night, taking their guests, members of a dinner club, to Daniger's for dinner. At the dessert hour Haro Segerstrom found himself to be an honored guest, for individual cakes with lighted candles were served, in celebration of his birthday.

Later the group returned to the Ragan home at 1320 Martha Lane where moving pictures of the Ragans' recent trip to Hawaii were shown. Present were Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merker, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Spears, Dr. and Mrs. Hubert Nall, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Segerstrom, and, in the absence of the Roscoe Hewitts, who are vacationing in Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner.

I. T. U. TOMORROW
Auxiliary to the International Typographical Union will meet tomorrow at 12 noon at the Roscoe cafe for luncheon.

Dinner Party Hosted by Tarpleys

Mr. and Mrs. James Tarpley were host and hostess at a charming dinner party, Saturday night, returning in part the many courtesies shown Mrs. Tarpley by county folk when she was district deputy of the Order of Eastern Stars.

Miniature silver ships adorned a handsome table at Daniger's and later both bridge and five hundred were played.

Guests of the Tarpleys included Mrs. Gwendolyn Thompson of Orange; Mrs. Alex McAdams of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Esther Long of Fullerton; Mrs. Mabel Lambert, Miss Henrietta Bohling and Mr. and Mrs. John Bruns of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Orland Smith of Garden Grove; Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Jackson of Brea; Mr. and Mrs. William Lachenmeyer of Artesia; Mr. and Mrs. William Bridge of Norwalk.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Liles of Yorba Linda, Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Snell of Cypress, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Kirk and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Seward of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lentwiler of La Habra; Mr. and Mrs. A. Gregg of Anaheim, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Gilgoly of Orange.

FAMILY PARTY HONORS MISS VERA CASH

An especially thoughtful gesture was incorporated into an enjoyable party Saturday evening when members of a prominent Southern California family united to honor a relative, Miss Vera Cash. Miss Cash had devoted several years to caring for the late Mrs. Margaret Anderson, honored dowager of the family.

Hostesses were Mrs. Cora Glass, Mrs. Perle Glass, and Mrs. Margaret Thacker, all of Corona. They were assisted by their daughters, Mrs. Wallace Clark, Mrs. Jess Hill, Miss Florence Thacker and Miss Marian Glass.

The hostess was unaware of the purpose of the party, and was completely surprised when at the conclusion of an amusing game won by herself, she was presented with an array of lovely miscellaneous gifts.

Participating in the gesture of appreciation were Mrs. Loretta Cash, Mrs. Jennie Anderson, Mrs. A. J. Smiley, Mrs. Roy Beall, Mrs. W. R. McBurney, Mrs. Catherine Sherwin, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. McBurney, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McBurney, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cash, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Smiley, S. E. McBurney, J. A. Smiley, David Beall, Mac Beall, Miss Vera Cash, Miss Ruth McBurney, Miss Roberta McBurney, and Miss Jim Smiley and Billy McBurney, all of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Melia Arkle and Thomas Gow of Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wharton and James Wharton of Laguna; Miss Henrietta Campbell and Miss Dorothy Trempler of Orange; Mrs. O. W. Robinson of Honolulu; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Patterson of Gooding, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. William McBurney of Quaker City; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Thersary of Arlington; Dr. and Mrs. O. S. Bay, James and Wayne Bay of Los Angeles; Mrs. Margaret Thacker and Miss Florence Thacker of Riverside; Mrs. Cora Glass, Mr. and Mrs. Perle Glass, Mrs. Jess Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thersary, Miss Ruth Glass, Miss Marian Glass and Howard Clark, all of Corona.

HOLD DRAMA CONCLAVE HERE TOMORROW

A conclave of county women interested in the drama will be held tomorrow all day in Santa Ana, it was revealed today by Mrs. L. R. Beaman, county federation chairman of drama, and member of the local Ebell club.

At the session reports on each club's progress and projects will be heard, and a general program will be determined on in conjunction with the district project for the year.

Headliners on the program, to be broken up by noon luncheon at Daniger's, will be brief talks by Mrs. W. S. Thomson, Santa Ana Ebell president, and by Mrs. R. G. Miller of Huntington Beach, county federation president; a talk on "Ibsen and the Modern Drama," by Mrs. H. H. Benjamin of Anaheim; a talk on "Walt Disney, the Modern Grimm;" one on drama books and plays available at the county library by Mrs. Lyle Fortable of the library, and a round table discussion of the drama by Ernest Crozier Phillips, to be followed by a one-act play presented by Miss Betty Jane Moore.

Mrs. Beaman urges that anyone interested in the drama belonging to the county federation, attend the affair, which is the first of its kind.

LOS ANGELES WED HERE

Choosing the First Christian church of Santa Ana as setting for their wedding, Miss Marjorie Fogelman and Charles Holder of Los Angeles were married yesterday by the Rev. Benjamin Schuller, pastor of the church, and a round table discussion of the drama by Ernest Crozier Phillips, to be followed by a one-act play presented by Miss Betty Jane Moore.

Eight Tables In Play At Party

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Waycott, 901 Kilson drive, was setting Saturday evening for an informal bridge party with which members of the Evening Social section of the Santa Ana Woman's club entertained their husbands.

Mrs. G. N. Coon and Mrs. E. J. Grother joined with Mrs. Waycott in hosting the monthly party, during which eight tables were in play. A blazing fire in the fireplace formed a cheerful background for the party, and decorations were of pastel sweet peas and bowls of scarlet poinsettias.

At the close of the bridge game, the hostesses followed the section's custom of awarding prizes to the husbands, who were winners of high scores. High prize in contract was won by Paul Patton, in auction by W. L. Harbert, and traveling prize by Guy Carman.

Those present for the delightful evening were Mrs. M. O. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walters, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jacob, Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Waycott, Mrs. Elizabeth Read, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Coon, Mrs. Clifford McVain, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Linsenbarr, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Braden, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Carman, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harbert, Mr. and Mrs. Kinslow, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. Blanche Hackett, Mrs. William Kenny, Paul Patton and Earl Waycott, Jr.

POETRY SECTION GIVES LOVELY BENEFIT PARTY

A Foundation Benefit party was conducted one day last week by Poetry section members of the Santa Ana Woman's club. The pleasant affair took place in the home of Mrs. Charles Hossfield on Wisteria Drive, with a dessert course preceding the afternoon's play.

Later prizes of dainty hand-made guest towels were awarded as prizes for contract, auction, and anagrams, respectively, to Mrs. C. A. Warren, Mrs. W. L. Harbert, and Mrs. R. W. Cole. Mrs. R. V. Evans won a traveling award.

Additional prizes were experienced when Mrs. Agnes M. Bond, a special guest read four of her original poems which have recently been published.

Cohostesses with Mrs. Hossfield were Miss Blanche Seeley, Mrs. Margaret Church, and Mrs. Earl Ladd. Others present were the Mesdames H. R. McVay, Herbert McVay, Ray Walters, C. A. Warren, Frank Jones, E. G. Warner, J. D. McCracken, H. M. Kinslow, Agnes Bond, L. V. Brown, E. F. Meunier, R. V. Evans, R. W. Cole, Minnie Collins, J. E. Braden, and W. L. Harbert.

One more brilliant mind, Don Marquis, has joined the crew of the ship "Gowanus Bound," and here is a toast to a happy voyage and "Auf Wiedersehen."

THE JESTERS

A toast to the fools!
Pierrot, Pantaloon,
Harlequin, Clown,
Merry-Andrew, Buffoon . . . all of the tribe.
Dancer and jester and singer and scribe.
We sigh for Yorick . . . (unfortunate fool,
Ten thousand Hamlets have fumbled over his skull!)
But where is the Hamlet to weep over the biers
Of his brothers?
And where is the poet solicits our tears
For the others?
They have passed from the world and left never a sign,
And few of us now have the courage to inquire
That their whimsies made life a more livable thing . . .
We, that are left of the line,
Let us drink to the jesters . . . in gooseberry wine!

Then here's to the fools!
Plotting the sages
Through history's pages
And driving the dreary old seers into rages . . .
The humbugging Magis
Who prate that the wages
Of Folly are Death . . . toast the Fools of all ages!
They have ridden like froth down the whirlpools of time,
They have jingled their caps in the councils of state,
They have snared half the wisdom of life in a rhyme,
And tripped into nothingness grinning at fate . . .
Ho, bubble, bubble,
Brim up the glasses with gooseberry wine!

Though the prince with his firman,
The judge in his ermine,
Affirm and determine
Bold words need the whip.
Let them strike the rod and remit us the sermon,
For Death has a quip
Of the tomb and the vermin.
That will silence at last the most impudent lip!
Is the world but a bubble, a bauble, a joke?
Heigho, Brother Fools, now your bubble is broke,
Do you ask for a tear? . . . or is it worth while?
Here's a sigh for you, then . . . but it ends in a smile!
Ho, Brother Death,
We would laugh at you, too . . . if you spared us the breath.

Mary Stoddard Lonely Contributor Writes to Extend Her Understanding to 'Oh Well'

A first contributor joins our ranks today in another letter on "Oh Well," again in hopes of helping him from his lethargy, if we might call it that. And again I sincerely regret that we are unable to divulge the name and the address of our contributors, even though that is the only method of fair play. Of course, many times even we do not know the authentic name of the correspondent.

Dear Miss Stoddard:
This is my first contribution to yours, or any other column, although I have followed your column for quite a while, and look forward to reading letters from people who too, are trying to figure out a "happy existence."

I too, have had a very heart-breaking experience, at the hands of a schoolboy sweetheart, who later became the husband, and later made me feel that I had nothing left to live for after 12 years of happy married life. Although I had not known it, I found out that he never had been true to me, but just a clever professor.

But I have been these past four years "picking myself up" and continuing living with the same ideals I started out with, for even though it has been a great aching lonely void where my past is concerned, I have learned many things that I wouldn't take anything for, and which cannot be taken from us, except through my own thoughts.

But, getting away from me to your latest correspondent of Jan. 23, don't think I'm a pessimist when I say I have doubted seriously if there were any men who wanted a woman who does not play the game in the so-called modern manner, or would recognize a decent woman if they saw one. I am not a poor sport, for I love all sorts of fun and dancing, and have been a professional musician over the radio for years. I love all sorts of sports, and like nothing better than to have a nice evening at home with real friends. But my problem is this: though all of the friends I have are grand people, since my marriage ended I feel very lonely and "extra" and the few men I have met are not even worth a passing glance.

I don't know why "Oh Well" letter incited in me the urge to write to you, but contrary to the advice you gave him, I was glad to read of a presentable man who was settled enough to appreciate the values that some of his sentences betrayed.

Mary Stoddard, do you ever come across letters from two different people, and feel that they might have common interests? Though so to feel that you might like it possible for two lonely people to at least correspond?

I have no idea how old or what other characteristics "Oh Well" may possess, but he sounds interesting and I would like to find out if he really is what he claims in his letter.

Dear "So Worried"—We mortals who run on modest budgets (and who does not?) must surely plan far ahead. And being married in the summer, you should indeed make everything bought from now until then fit into that important plan. You must first let me know where you will live. That is the most important question—and what sort of life. Will there be much social activity and do you need formal clothes? So many moderns do not. Will there be a honeymoon and where? And what about your own coloring and what color do you enjoy wearing? All this I must know before I can make any helpful and usable plans for you. But if you will tell me this, I shall love helping you.

Address all inquiries to Mary Hampton in care of this paper. Inquiries not answered in the columns (and so few find space) will be answered personally providing a fully addressed envelope with 3c stamp is enclosed.

PHILATHEANS ENTERTAINED IN HOCKADAY HOME

Mrs. Robert N. Hockaday opened her home last week to members of Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church for an evening party that was made additionally enjoyable by a program presented by pupils of Holly Lash Vial.

Her Studio Singers presented two lovely numbers, and little Sally Hockaday issued greetings to the class. There followed a reading by Helen Rogers, solos by Kathryn Stockton, a reading by Doris Lorraine Fanning and songs by Joan Hockaday, Margaret Davies was accompanist.

Before refreshments concluded the evening two fine films were enjoyed, one depicting the San Francisco bridge, taken by Mr. Hockaday, and the other shown by Marvin Rohrs of his recent round-the-world tour.

Mrs. Hockaday was assisted in serving by Mrs. James N. Anderson, Mrs. Whitford Hall, and Mrs. Jewel Jenkins.

SHOWER FETES BRIDE-ELECT

A prettily appointed towel shower was given in the Anaheim home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fischle, Friday night, honoring the bride's future sister-in-law, Miss Phyllis Rowen, Balboa Island, who will be married to Charles Fischle of Anaheim on March 6, at the Santa Ana Episcopal church.

Guests played guessing games, prizes were awarded, and the latter of South Gate, Miss Ruth Smeed, and Mrs. Oswald C. Ulrich. Later the husbands and escorts who had enjoyed a theater party joined the ladies, and all were served a midnight supper.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fischle, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Oswald C. Ulrich, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ramm, Miss Ruth Smeed, Charles and Edward Fischle of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hafer, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Collins, South Gate, and the guest of honor.

Supper Party Hosted By Flints

Conventional contract games were abandoned after but a short time last night when Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Flint entertained at a Sunday night supper, for guests became intrigued with the possibilities of "The Big Apple," and devoted the evening to that gay dance.

The merriment followed a buffet supper served in informal style from a beautifully appointed gardenia-centered table. Guests of the Flints in their attractive Heliotrope drive home were Mr. and Mrs. B. J. MacMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin West, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hall and Judge and Mrs. J. B. Tucker.

PUPILS GIVE STUDIO RECITAL

Ten pupils of Mrs. Marie Stanton Evely were presented in a recital of piano and vocal selections Thursday evening during a studio recital at 501 South Van Ness street.

Mrs. Evely had used beautiful arrangements of narcissi and daisies from her own garden as decorations throughout the studio. Lighted candles added to the charm of the setting. At the close of the program, the hostess served a dessert course to her guests, assisted by Miss Marian and Miss Maxine Waffle, Miss Esther Orr, and Miss Eleanor Freeburg.

Solo piano numbers in the recital were given by the Misses Jeanne Waldron, Vera McVey, Sally Andrews, Eleanor Freeburg, Helen Louise Waldron, Marian Waffle, Maxine, Patty Lou, and Miss Esther Williams, and LeVonne Kiser.

Duets were given by the Waffle twins, by Miss Patty Williams and Mrs. Evely, by Mrs. Forrest E. White and daughter Patty Lou, and Mrs. Kiser and daughter LeVonne. Miss Esther Orr sang two solos accompanied by Mrs. Evely.

Concluding the program, little Miss Patty Williams sang two solos in costume, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lewis Williams.

SHIPWRECKED HORSE...
Moifaa, Australian thoroughbred, was one horse that came from "down under" and ended up on top. The fantastic story of how this horse won the 1904 Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England, is one of the strangest tales of the turf.
Moifaa was shipped half-way around the world for the big race. As the boat neared the Irish coast, a storm struck the vessel and she foundered. His hoofs sliding across the weeping deck, Moifaa plunged into the ocean and, with a plaintive whinny, swam away from the wreck.

Nothing was heard of the horse for two weeks and his owners gave him up for drowned. Then Irish fishermen spotted the valiant Moifaa trotting around a tiny, uninhabited island, many miles from the scene of the wreck!
Moifaa was brought to Ireland and carefully reconditioned after his harrowing experience. He was trained at the Fairhouse course, and arrived at the Aintree track in top-notch condition. Moifaa entered the Grand National a true "dark horse," with keen competition and his narrow escape from drowning running odds of 25-to-1 against him.

WE HAVE A FIVE-ROOM HOME YOU CAN AFFORD

Located on a lot 60x135, in a community of entirely new homes, all owner occupied, this home is a model of convenience and good taste. Living rooms 18x21, with a real fireplace, and two doors lead to what you may build into a wonderful outdoor living room. Hallway connecting to the two bedrooms contains two immense linen closets, and the bath is, of course, complete to even the shower. The bedrooms are 12x13 each, and a window on each of the three sides in them affords perfect ventilation and light. A large clothes closet in each of them. You will find a window and is lighted besides. The dinette is connected to the living room by French doors, and is large enough, if you wish, for a full-size dining room table. Kitchen contains plenty of convenient cupboards, space, tile sink, a recessed and ventilated box space, canopied stove and plenty of electric outlets. Service porch is 8x10, with built-in broom closet, laundry tub, ironing board and room for washer and ironer if you want. Double garage, with cement driveway to street, complete the buildings. Entire place of stucco construction, and built and financed under F. H. A. specifications and terms. You will be surprised at how easily you may own this. See Ed L. Hensley, Realtor, Midway City or phone Westminster 8361 for all particulars.
